AFTERWORD

Thank you very much for reading "Kanojo no Omocha!".

This story marks my tenth release to date, it feels like quite the milestone. While this is my tenth release, it's actually a revised version of one of my previous stories that was published in "LoLiN Haru Ga Kita Gou", but with a longer story and improved editing.

The original release was only 16 pages long, and I always wanted to add a little more to it, so I decided to re-release it in this format. (Since the story involves child partners, I've also released it as the forth title in my "Kodomo no Seikatsu" series.) For Ayume-kun, the boy in this story, I wanted to try drawing him with more of an emphasis on being a cute character, how do you think it went? (Ayume-kun being included on the cover is also due to this attempt.)

I'm planning on releasing my next work in April at Comic 1.

If you'd like to know more, there'll be more information on my blog, Twitter and Pixiv. My blog also contains a complete list of all of my works to date, so please check it out. Thanks!
