Let's live together with the Centaurs!

To an ordinary person, a Centaur possesses both the elegance of a horse as well as a strong body. What did the Centaurs that were sung in legends hoped to find out by coexisting with humans? In terms of human livelihood, were they able to accept the individual personalities of Centaurs? From this page onwards, you will learn their customs and how they've lived up until now. You will get the feeling of, 'are Centaurs really like this nowadays'? This is a compilation that gives you a sense of what their hobbies are.

Their everyday life is described in a composition form of writing where you can see just what kind of appearance the Centaurs are showing.

■ Every month they wear traditional clothing in their home town. This event of changing into traditional costumes is an established practice. It is usually very lively, enjoyable, and fun.

□ Since Lea is from Germany, her outfits are also of German tradition. Answering why she is German in the first place is pretty difficult, but for simplicity's sake, when you look at the traits of a German that loves alcohol, you get the feeling of, 'they can't be anything except Centaurs.' Lea is also very serious and in order to prevent the store from going bankrupt, she decided to live there.

□ The ear cover is attached to a hood. Yes, we love horse ears. It's troublesome to suddenly surpass the hearing ability of the horses in town so they only use their sense of hearing on the same level as that of a human's. Does it look like something belonging to a race horse?

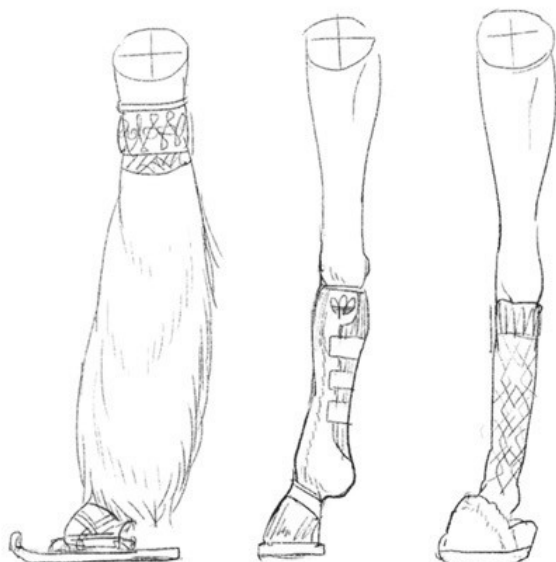

■ It's one per year. To make sure, everything is gathered.

□ To a Centaur, a horseshoe is a special and excellent gift. This is because their feet often knock into each other. They can only show themselves in public when a set of four is collected. Instead of using a marriage ring when they get married, a marriage horseshoe is used in its place.

□ Foot cloth correction.

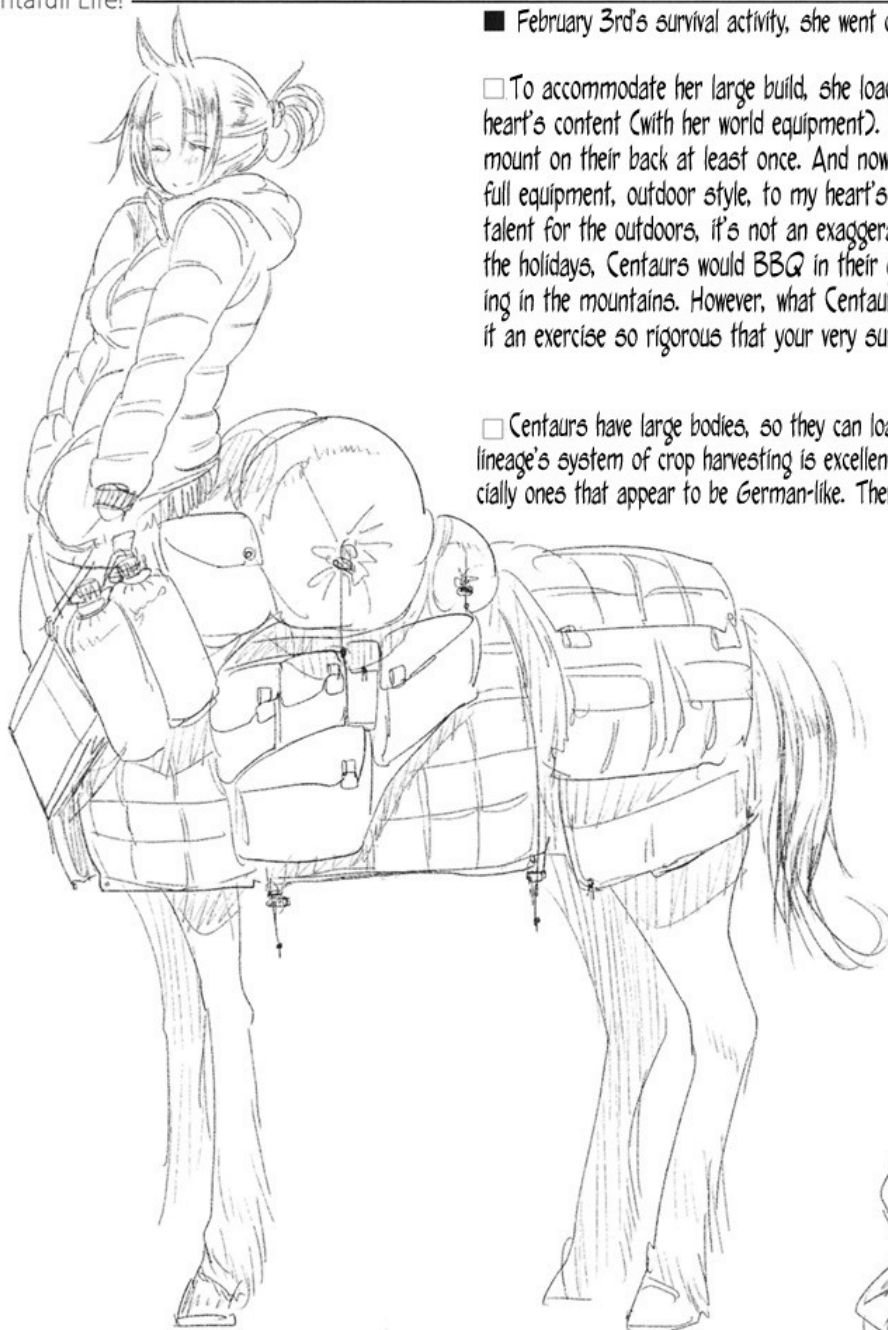

Besides its primary role of protecting the feet, it has various other uses, such as being a foot ornament. Starting from the left is Snowfield Duty, All-Mighty, and Indoor. In terms of function and durability, the All-Mighty is the most popular one among the Centaurs. However, the Indoor foot cloth is also terrific in giving off an aura of a warm family.

■ February 3rd's survival activity, she went on a date.

□ To accommodate her large build, she loaded a lot of luggage. There, she stood on the top to her heart's content (with her world equipment). If I can do as I please, I would like to take a ride and mount on their back at least once. And nowadays, I would also like to feel this sensation of wearing full equipment, outdoor style, to my heart's content. In its foundation, their tribe is one that has a talent for the outdoors, it's not an exaggeration to say that they shine once they are outside. During the holidays, Centaurs would BBQ in their gardens, and on consecutive holidays, they would go camping in the mountains. However, what Centaurs consider to be an outdoor date, humans would consider it an exercise so rigorous that your very survival depends on it.

□ Centaurs have large bodies, so they can load and carry luggage to their favorite places, and the MOLLE lineage's system of crop harvesting is excellent. They love anything that is durable and easy to use, especially ones that appear to be German-like. There is also a possibility that they can join with the military.

□ Skiing on the ski slopes! Popular in Europe, the so-called cross-country. Even though it's winter, she's not an obedient Centaur. Of course, she's not going rifting, but rather going up the slope by herself.

■ Morning, the happiness of waking up to the smell of roast.

Waking up in the morning with breakfast already placed in front of you is true happiness. That is the work of a Centaur-bride, with more to come! A farm family's mornings are usually fast and it seems Lea is in charge of breakfast duty. Now then, from this point onwards we'll be talking about Lea's meals and German cuisine. When speaking of Germany, the image of a potato sausage is firmly rooted but in reality, I wonder what kind of taste it has. Since I was curious, I went to eat at a German restaurant.

□ I asked for a plate menu. The sausage had a sweet aroma with a smoky flavor. The Leberkäse was untangling inside my mouth, kind of like sliced meat loaves. There were two pieces of pork, that's probably German cuisine as well. It was very delicious.

Cabbage and Sauerkraut are served in the middle. There are also flavors of meat. The origin is probably Germany's severe winter vitamins. The Sauerkraut is made by fermenting white cabbage, but the cabbage in Japan is more than twice its size and hardness. I wonder if it's a country where man as well as vegetables are large.

It's a delicious plate menu for emergencies, but it's as if it's made with the flavor of beer in it...! Since this is a good opportunity, there's no choice but to drink more German beer! Although I say that, the stuff inside the menu is pretty cheap.

□ The small bottle is 330ml. The ones that have a catchy flavor are gradually drunk up. When a German person is asking for water, you get the feeling that he was actually asking for beer. By the way, it's around 50 yen per bottle over there. So cheap! But then again, it's probably just because Japan's alcoholic beverages are freaking expensive...

There was a beer price hike over there, where the citizens were vehemently opposed to. The group of policemen that were supposed to stop the demonstration also didn't like the price hike, so they didn't really feel like stopping them. The result of that demonstration is beer prices are still kind of cheap, even now. It's really amazing, the love that Germany has for beer.

■ High energy, high output.

□ Centaur's extreme physical strength and horse-power are due to their species, but maintaining such a large build also requires an extreme amount of food. If you want to emulate a horse, then it's around 5~8kg a day...A Centaur's food expenses would put a family's finances in danger! The only relief is that they are originally herbivores so they don't eat that much meat.

Lea's portions of Sauerkraut and homemade potatoes are cheap on the family finances but Centaurs love to drink alcohol. (formal establishment) It's much better for them in Germany, in Japan they have a difficult time. Ah...please refrain from drinking potato-sake. There are only potatoes.

ザワークラウト 2kg

■ A bad companion loli-centaur has appeared!

□ She's a childhood friend, and under these circumstances, we want her to be in a position where she is cheeky and tomboyish. Since she's from a tribe with large bodies, those qualities are beyond one's control. After school, her daily routine consists of playing with the boys in her grade outside in the park. During her second stage of sexual development, while being perplexed, she began to become worried about playing with boys all the time. Or something like that!

□ She was learning that the act of having someone of the opposite sex riding on your back is called mounting...in other words, going beyond the sexual metaphor theory, the act of planting an obscure seed is called mounting.

However, Centaurs also have a sinful appearance. They don't know anything in their infancy, but once they reach early adulthood and gain some knowledge, boys become the center of thought in the girls' hearts (we are talking about horses here) and indecent feelings begin to sprout...!

To reiterate, besides wearing those kind of horse leggings, they would come home after school along with their friends. Boys their age have already entered the phase of reading erotic books. A situation where they are captured for life!

■ [A Centaur mother?]

[Yes, indeed]

[He watched a lot of Harry Potter so he's a big fan. I guess I'll be one too!]

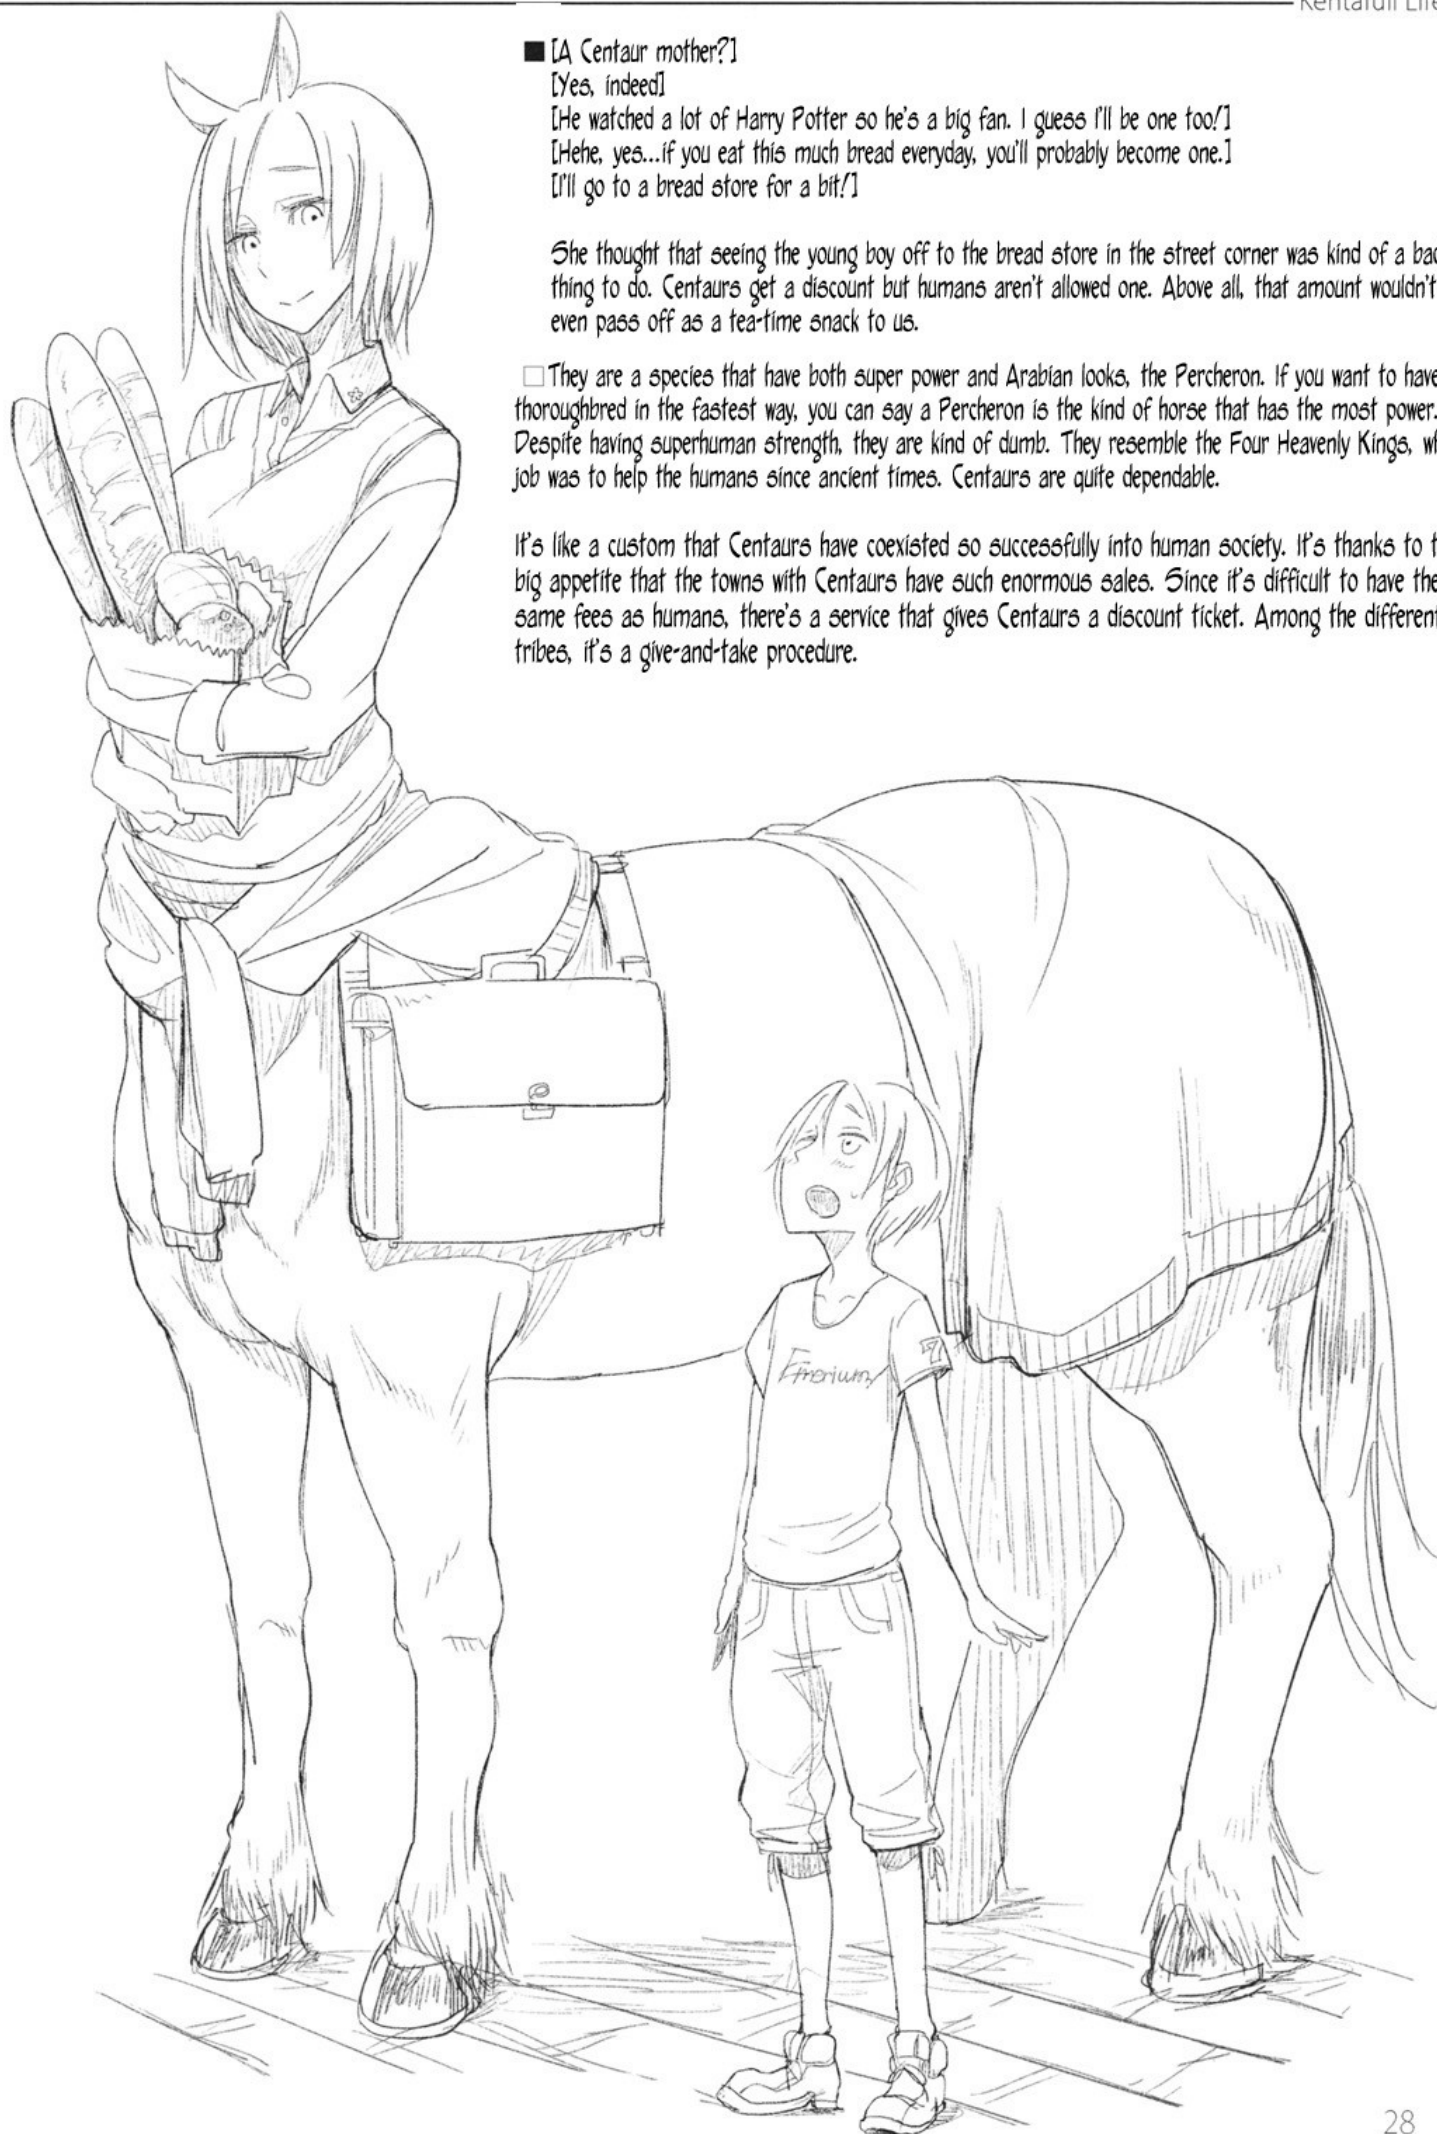

[Hehe, yes...if you eat this much bread everyday, you'll probably become one.]

[I'll go to a bread store for a bit!]

She thought that seeing the young boy off to the bread store in the street corner was kind of a bad thing to do. Centaurs get a discount but humans aren't allowed one. Above all, that amount wouldn't even pass off as a tea-time snack to us.

□ They are a species that have both super power and Arabian looks, the Percheron. If you want to have a thoroughbred in the fastest way, you can say a Percheron is the kind of horse that has the most power. Despite having superhuman strength, they are kind of dumb. They resemble the Four Heavenly Kings, whose job was to help the humans since ancient times. Centaurs are quite dependable.

It's like a custom that Centaurs have coexisted so successfully into human society. It's thanks to their big appetite that the towns with Centaurs have such enormous sales. Since it's difficult to have the same fees as humans, there's a service that gives Centaurs a discount ticket. Among the different tribes, it's a give-and-take procedure.

■ [Ah, ancestor. It seems like bow and arrow is unnecessary for a reconnaissance soldier...]

□ Long distance arrow barrages are fired at the enemy to whittle away their war potential. During the Middle Ages, the ones with this kind of strength are snipers and archers. Centaurs surpass the archers which puts their name to shame, but this was only until the Middle Ages. To be involved in the production of modern day weapons, their talents and health replenishment are put to good use. They wear ghillie suits when hiding from the enemy. Due to their large size, the biggest disadvantage is the region surrounding them. They carry machine guns on both sides and with the maneuverability of a horse they can finish enemies off with a KAMIKAZE type of attack which is extremely terrifying. Even the pictures are scary.

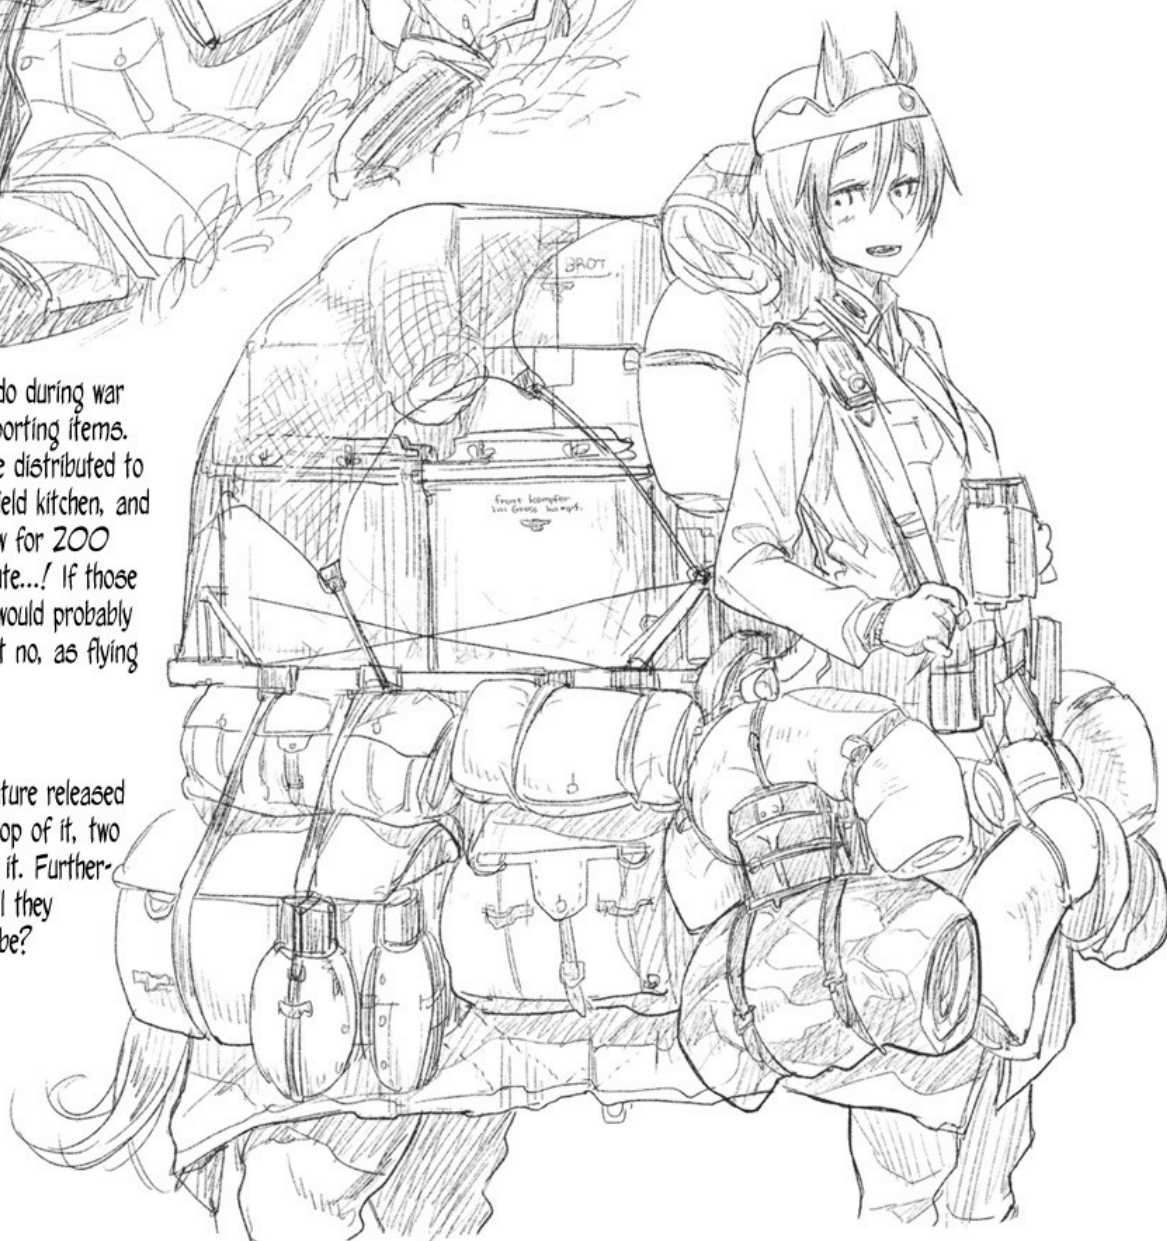

Speaking of the replenishment unit, well, we'll leave that for later. A luggage Centaur. This is it! It's like this! Rations (battle provisions) for more than 60 people are loaded.

It's hard to describe the use of this equipment so I depicted it in a picture. It's probably from the German army in the 1930's. Full armor in heavy arms, kind of like a Jim Jaguar? Something like that. Yeah, what am I talking about?

□ In reality what they really do during war time is, as I thought, transporting items. In Germany, warm meals are distributed to soldiers in what is called a field kitchen, and the horses pile up warm stew for 200 people in the trailers. Too cute...! If those were Centaurs, the soldiers would probably think of them as angels, wait no, as flying horses. Hail Centaur!

By the way, the military miniature released the field kitchen set, and on top of it, two horse pieces were attached to it. Furthermore, it looks pretty real. Will they make a military-centaur...maybe?

あとがき

■はじめまして! ^{エスエイチアイエス}SHISの中の人、^{ゼッ}Zッです。
 人外系フリークスサイト「SHIS」の管理人として5年間ほどオンライン上で絵を描いていたのですが、学生のうちに本出してみたい! ってことで、本書を発行する運びとなったのです。
 いやーケンタさん本、大変でした。何が大変ってヒロインのレアさん超巨乳じゃないですか。当方ロリ絵描きなのに大量の乳を描く羽目になったのだからさあ大変。
 でも描きなれてくると、あれ…おっぱいって意外と良い奴なんじゃ…? と思えてきて、最終的におっぱいとは和解できた感じがあります。乳輪とか描くのが楽しすぎて一時期は乳首漬けの毎日でしたがやっと外に出て新鮮な乳首いや空気を吸うことができました。

さて、本書はケンタウロスオンリーという非常にシンプルかつニッチかつフィストな内容だったのですが、いかがでしたでしょうか? はたしてこのような本に如何ほどの需要があるかはわかりませんが、これからも半ば自家発電的にこういった本を配布し人外娘の素晴らしさを布教することで人外絵師を増やし、結果的に当方が潤うという計画はまさに完璧だと思います。
