

Compilation Book of
SUPERMASSIVE Traps

1. Troubled Young God

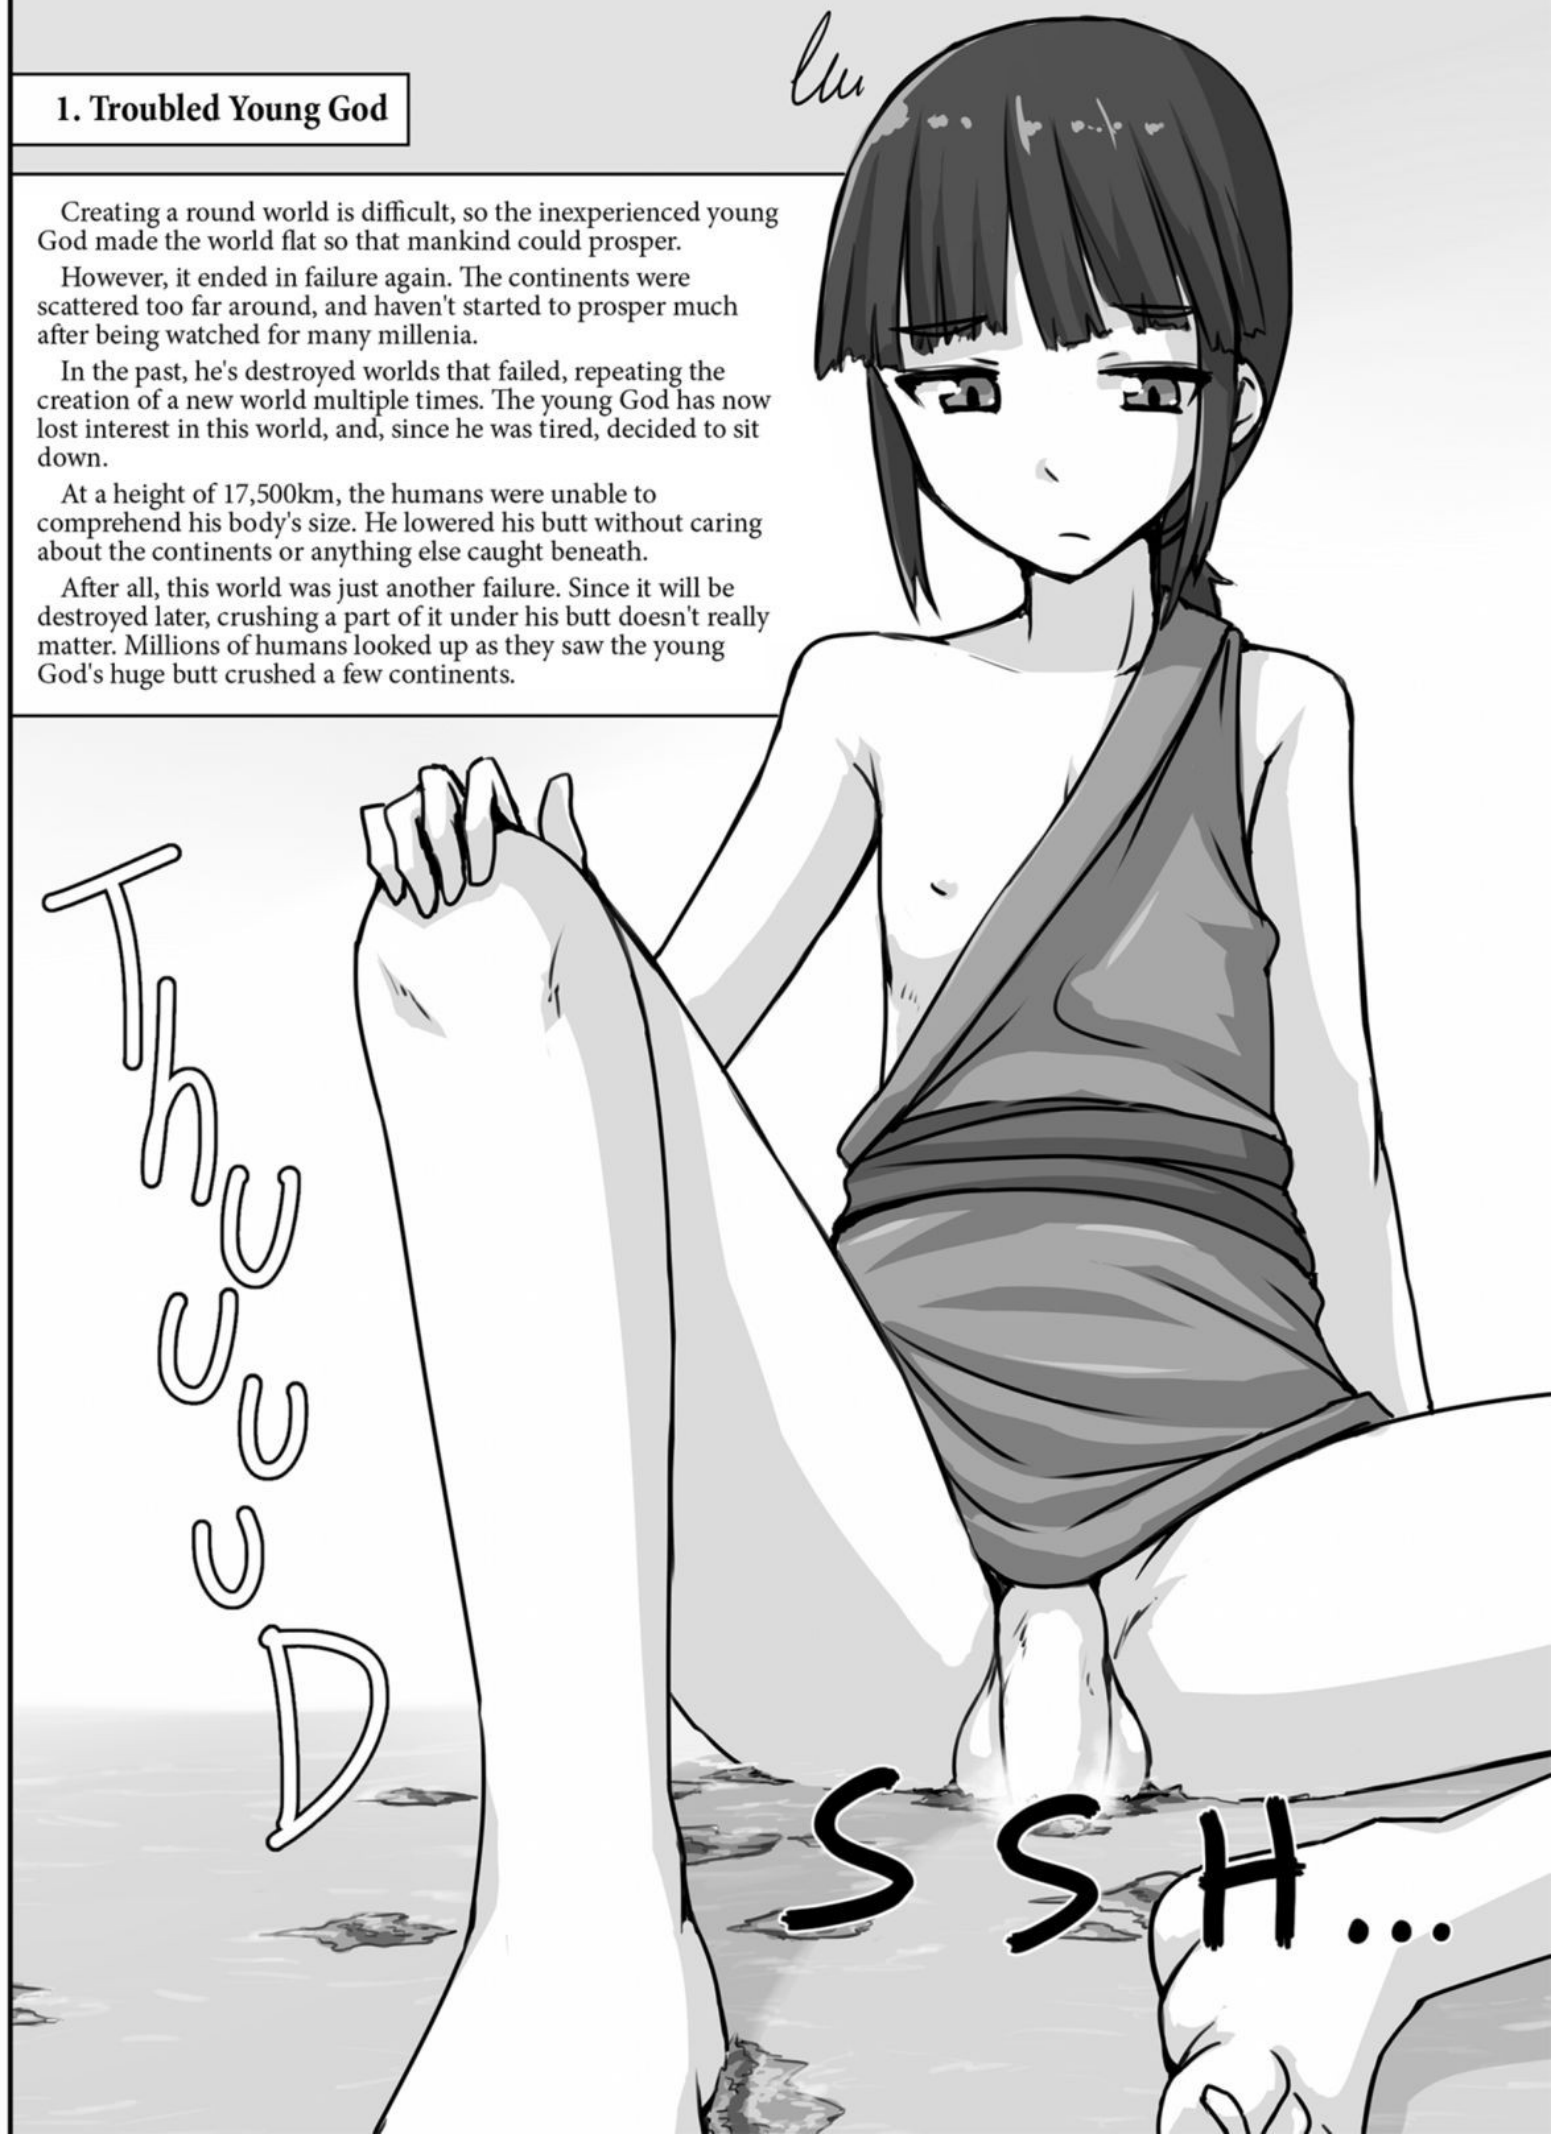

Creating a round world is difficult, so the inexperienced young God made the world flat so that mankind could prosper.

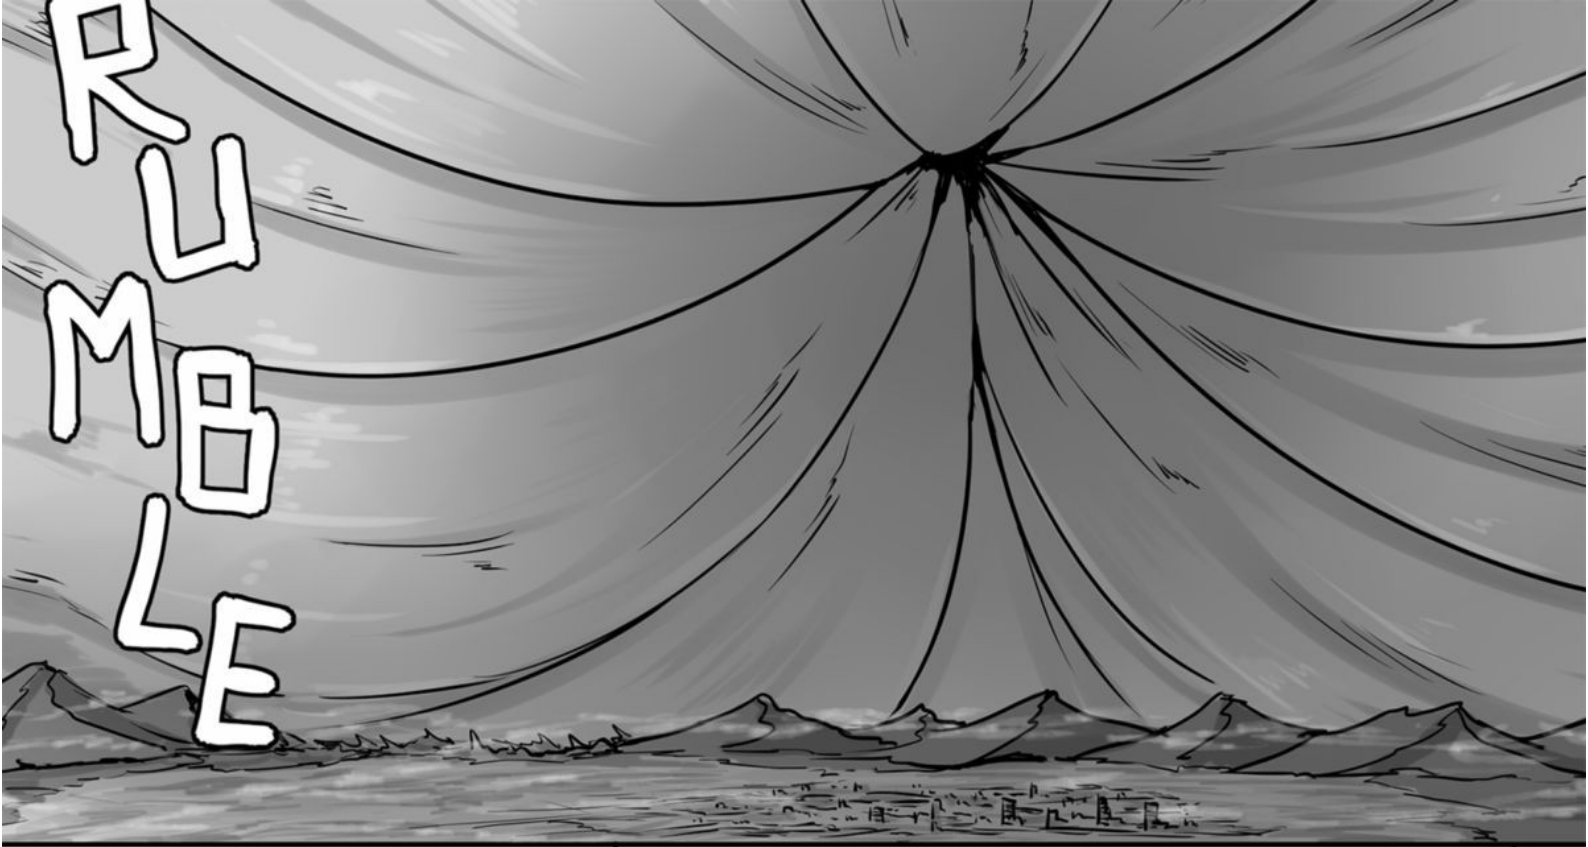

However, it ended in failure again. The continents were scattered too far around, and haven't started to prosper much after being watched for many millenia.

In the past, he's destroyed worlds that failed, repeating the creation of a new world multiple times. The young God has now lost interest in this world, and, since he was tired, decided to sit down.

At a height of 17,500km, the humans were unable to comprehend his body's size. He lowered his butt without caring about the continents or anything else caught beneath.

After all, this world was just another failure. Since it will be destroyed later, crushing a part of it under his butt doesn't really matter. Millions of humans looked up as they saw the young God's huge butt crushed a few continents.

2. Under the Butt

The young God sits down on the ground; easily crushing a few continents beneath him as his flesh spreads over the area and sinks deep into the ground.

Since the young God's size was so huge, the canyon between his buttocks was immeasurably deep. By sheer coincidence, a continent happened to be right in the middle of that deep crevice and the biggest city, the capital of that country, was miraculously spared from destruction.

As the world was suddenly coming to an end, millions of humans in the capital were in a complete state of panic and confusion. There was no way of knowing how many continents were crushed as the butt coming from sky fell onto them. They didn't know how they were spared, but a pattern of wrinkles converging into a single gigantic hole hovered far above the capital.

The temperature began to rise and a musty smell was spreading in the air.

The humans had no idea, but that huge thing that wanted to crush the city along with the remaining mountains in the surrounding area was nothing more than the young God's anus.

Another mountain was being crushed by the edge of that gigantic anus.

".....?"

The young God had a weird feeling as he felt a subtle sensation at the center of his butt. He instinctively contracted his anus, but didn't care too much about it.

The covering over the city started to move as a thunderous sound roared through the whole area. An earthquake like none before destroyed buildings one after the other.

Residents screamed at the sight, some were crushed by the falling debris while others tried to run away as they thought the end of the world was upon them.

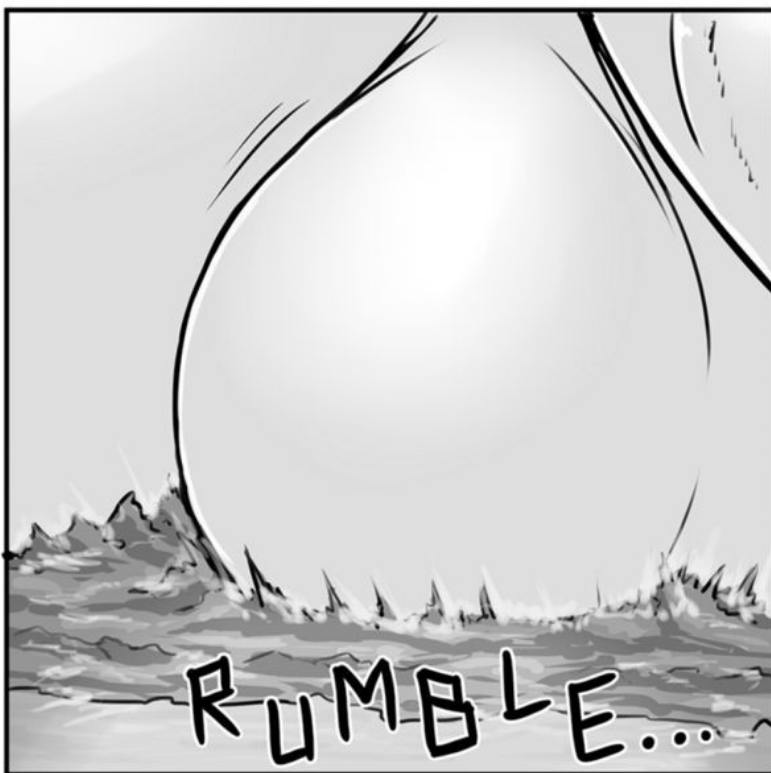

As the young God flexed the wrinkles surrounding his anus shrunk even more. Even the wrinkle's vibrations were more than enough to crumble away the civilization that the humans created. Only a few thousand humans survived, a fraction of what used to live there. No buildings were left standing as the city crumbled, before even the ground and surrounding mountains were pulverized.

The wrinkles started to slack as the anus relaxed and gradually returned to its original size. This time, the impact of the vibrations shook the atmosphere and completely destroyed what remained of the continent.

Nothing remained of the city, not even ruins could be seen. Only broken pieces of land remained under the young God's anus.

All it took was a twitch from his anus to overpower and destroy the capital.

The young God only sighed at this, blissfully unaware of what just happened under his butt.

3. Under the Crotch

Of course, the capital city directly beneath the young God's butt wasn't the only place affected when he sat down. Wearing no underwear, the imposing things dangling from his exposed crotch were approaching the ground along with the butt. Of course, since they were part of the young God's body, they were far bigger than a tiny human city.

The young God's splendid testicles appeared to have a diameter of 300km each. Both were wrapped inside a gigantic scrotum falling over a continent, and were easily able to flatten multiple cities at once.

The humans below would never have thought they would be crushed to death under testicles the size of asteroids. The right testicle flattened 3 cities while the left one crushed 4 in a single blow and swallowed mountains as it spread out over the surrounding landscape.

The humans in cities that weren't crushed directly could only look up as they were coming their way.

The scrotum was spreading so fast they were unable to escape. Any planes that had been flying in the sky at that moment were overtaken by a wall of scrotum, and exploded on contact. As they slowly settled on the continent, the young God's testicles were gradually slowing down and stopped splaying out after they swallowed two new cities.

Millions were victims of those gigantic sperm tanks and the lucky humans in cities that weren't crushed only looked up as they continued producing more semen. Just by dropping his testicles over a continent, they were able to annihilate the mold-like cities where humans lived like parasites. Each of them was worth less than one of the young God's sperm.

The residents of cities that were still intact were glad to have survived the event and started trying to rescue the victims. Those brave fools were helpless when those gigantic testicles started to shake again, blowing away cities like dust.

Since the young God felt uncomfortable, his butt shook as he moved his waist from side to side. The scrotum shook and bounced, destroying any surrounding geographical features around for hundreds of kilometers and transformed the ground into a deserted wasteland.

After this, the humans of the continent where the young God's testicles landed were completely annihilated. Life that had been present on the continent for thousands of years ceased to exist when the young God decided to take a seat.

The continent was dead and its temperature was rising from the heat of the young God's testicles. The humans perished when the young God leisurely sat over the continent and even its environment was altered drastically from just the presence of his scrotum.

4. With the Crotch's Tip

From far away beyond the sea, people watched as a gigantic thing fell off from the sky and destroyed a continent. The impact was felt all the way to their continent, and shook the ground.

Even though it came from hundreds of kilometers away, the people felt something unusual around them and slowly looked up as a shadow started to consume the land. A huge object extended from the other side of the sea to them and this flesh colored column with a diameter of roughly 500 kilometers was falling in their direction.

They finally recognized it as a cylindrical shape that seemed to be heading toward the continent. It looked as if only the flesh pillar's tip was about to fall on them. Before they could even think about what to do, the continent was crushed under the tip of the young God's enormous cock.

The cock's tip adhered to the ground as it made a huge, dull, thud. It instantly crushed a full continent and other things without the young God even noticing. The foreskin was slightly covering the glans but didn't extend over a 30 kilometers wide center. Rather than crushing the full continent under the glans, only a donut-like shape was crushed.

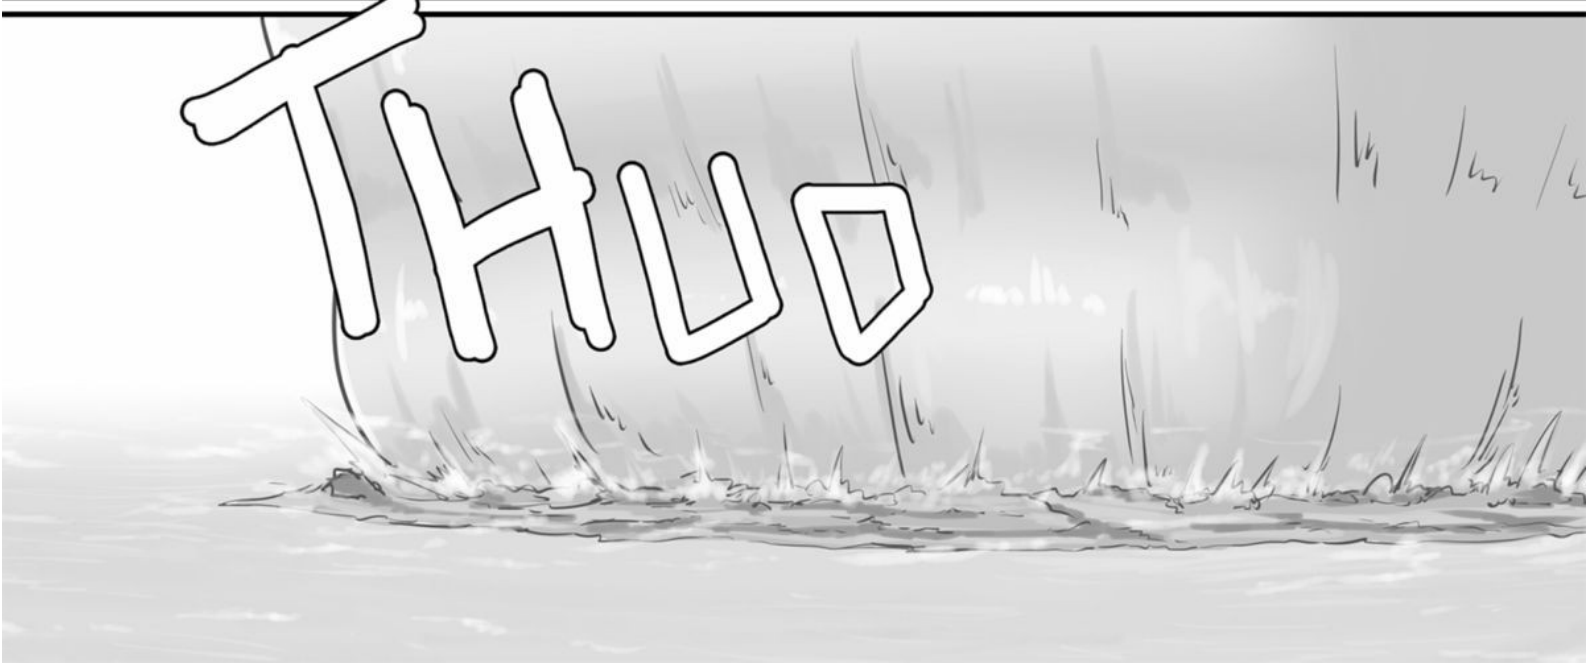

Cities and mountains burst in a row until everything was completely flattened under the foreskin. The humans were powerless in the situation and could only watch helplessly at the God's enormous cock invaded them. Even though the humans had erected skyscrapers they considered impressive, they amounted to less than half the size of the young God's smegma.

The young God's dick jolted. The tallest mountain range on the continent had survived so far, but the unyielding foreskin twitching completely crushed, and pulverized it into the ground in an instant. If the young God wanted to move his crotch, his dick would slide and grind any pitiful remains on the ground, leaving no trace of what was once there.

It was that easy for the God to destroy things such as humans from this world. The civilizations that had existed for thousands of years, and everything it had created was less worthy than the smegma stuck between the young God's foreskin and glans.

RUMBLE

THUD

5. Mankind's Counterattack

The humans on the continent weren't fully exterminated though. The space created by the young God's foreskin helped prevent the glans from striking the continent and a couple of cities managed to survive.

However, the environment was radically changed by the foreskin wall and glans covering them. The musty smell of the young God's crotch was thick in the air; temperature and humidity were also rising endlessly.

Each city was steamed thanks to the young God's continent sized cock, making it difficult for the people to breathe as they suffocated on the ground.

While thousands of humans died only from the heat and smell of the glans, several explosions occurred on the foreskin's interior wall surrounding the cities.

It was a rebellion against the God. The humans attacked the huge wall with every weapon they had and tried to destroy it. Of course, they weren't able to inflict a single injury to the young God's thick foreskin, and he only felt very slight tickles since on the sensitive area.

Light reappeared in the continent. The young God pondered about the sensation and raised his waist. The cock that was stuck over the continent was rising back up into the sky.

The young God's butt roared as it rose from the ground while debris from the continent and Earth's crust scattered around.

The two asteroid-like testicles were no exception either. A cataclysm was created from only those and even if humans could never hope to move them, he raised the scrotum from the continent and into the sky very easily.

Humans were like microorganisms to the young God, and they looked up at him in disbelief as he moved a hand to his butt and brushed away the debris without caring one bit about them.

Then he touched his balls and continued up to his glans to remove anything that was stuck. The young God completely cleaned his butt in a few seconds and any evidence of the planet like the continents was completely wiped away.

The young God gazed at the wide world below while he brushed his crotch. He finally remembered that the humans were living on each of those continents he was looking at.

He was perplexed at the thought of how many millions of humans could live on a lump of earth the size of his pinky's tip.

6. Under the Chest

The young God laid on his side and brought his face closer to the world of the microorganisms. He could see gray patterns that were human cities on the green ground when he looked closely.

(Whoa, so they are living like this?)

As the gigantic face was looking down curiously at the cities in chaos, his gaze suddenly switched to something around his chest.

A vivid pink body was approaching the continent. An order to evacuate immediately was issued for the towns near the coastline, but these towns were erased from the world a few seconds later.

The young God's nipple was wider than the average continent size and the center of the nipple started to bulge out, crushing cities, until it reached 25 kilometers high.

Part of the ground was pulverized when it was scratched by the nipple, but more cities were swallowed by the bulging nipple. Those people were in a complete agonized state as the spaced out young God was looking in their direction.

(Oh, did my nipple touch the continent?)

Somehow, the slightest movement of the chest made the nipple scrape against the continent. The nipple's shadow covered some green land and gray parts until they were not visible anymore. Cities were annihilated instantly.

(Hehe, humans. It's better for you to realize how big a God's nipple is. Just kidding.)

Two, then three more gray patterned spots were swallowed. At times, the God's nipple was moving parallel to the mountain ranges, shaving them off clean of the continent. The roughness of the terrain was nothing compared to the young God's nipple, even with the thousands of meters high mountains.

7. God's Hammer

The ground trembled, and several cities were swallowed up by the Earth's crust caving in; people and buildings alike were crushed under the young God's nipple.

At the God's whim, what would be considered a mere mischief annihilated a whole continent in its process.

While humming, the young God moved his nipple over the continent, absorbed in his amusement while the gray patches made popping sounds as they were crushed. He kept crushing the continent into nothingness with his nipple over and over again, increasing the sensation every time until the young God started to feel something new.

(Hmm...somehow, this feels good...)

The young god felt a tingling sensation from his nipple. It began to expand, destroying several cities and wiping out millions of humans as it slowly started to progress across the land.

Every time the nipple destroyed an area, the people living in the cities on the opposite side felt an ominous earthquake. Until now, the movement of the young God's nipple matched his body, but now the nipple started to oscillate by itself.

Mankind began to flee the continent using sea or air transportations. Boats were departing from the harbours one after the other while airplanes were taking off.

The God's Hammer descended on a continent. The nipple started to erect from the sensation of the continent's destruction. The young God's nipple sunk into the Earth's crust as it expanded on contact with the ground. The energy from the sudden expansion of the continent sized object created an unbelievable amount of force which resulted in the merciless destruction of the human's world.

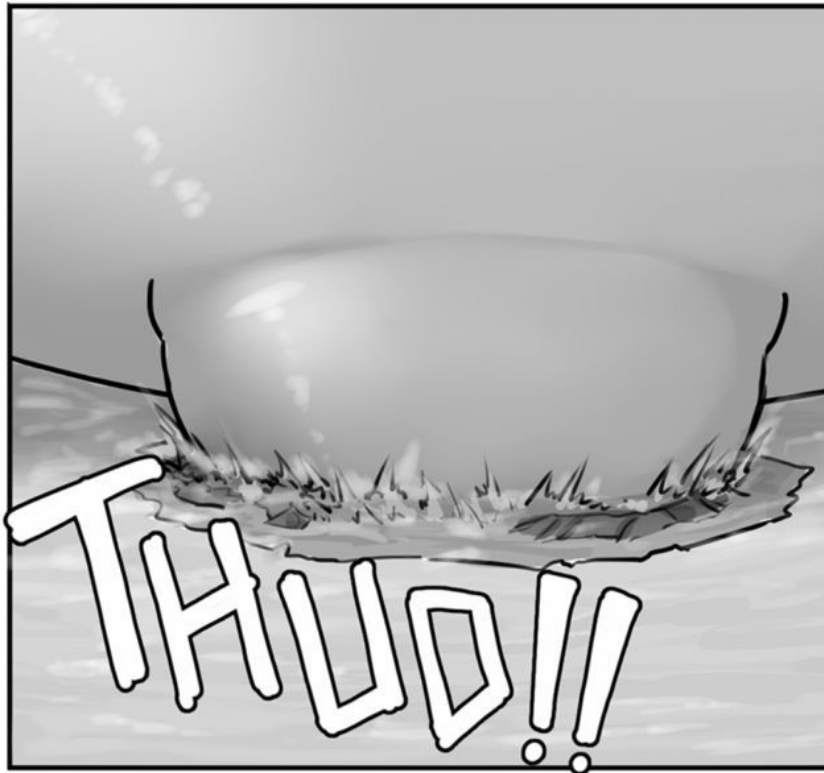

The shock wave made by the nipple's erection caught the fleeing planes from the continent, exploding them instantly upon contact into rubble. The ships escaping by sea were swallowed by a large wave and no ships rose to the surface afterward.

(What's this... feels good...)

He withdrew his nipple from the continent, brushing it off with a fingertip. The young God found it exciting to destroy a continent with his gigantic nipple and its shape changed as the sensation made it harder.

(It might feel even better touching it with my finger)

The young God's interest changed from the human's world to his nipple. All that was left directly under the God's nipple was a large crater dug in the center of the continent.

8. End of the World

Having stimulated his nipple, a change began to take place in the young God's body.

(.....)

After destroying the continent just a moment ago, the young God's gigantic cock started to become erect.

The foreskin gradually retracted without too much force from the swelling of the interior part. More precisely, the pink glans swelled up gradually from within, shaking the world as it started to appear.

The new vibrations that were shaking the human world couldn't be compared to the previous shockwave made by the nipple's erection. The young God having an erection was simply enough to destroy multiple continents.

When the glans was fully exposed, the fishy smell trapped inside started to spread around the world while the continent closest to his crotch was smashed into pieces, killing billions of humans at the same time.

(Whoa, humans were killed from the growth of my cock... Hmm, even though this world I created is a failure...)

The excited young god remembered some of his previous failed worlds. Then, he decided to relieve his frustration by destroying this world with his dick.

His true shape showed up, the young God's gigantic cock was about 1700km long, had a diameter of about 500km, and was being held over a still unscarred continent.

With a huge thud, the glans's tip only touched the continent a little and erases over 20 countries out of existence. When he slowly lifted his waist, a crater was cleanly carved in the shape of his glans where the continent once was.

After showing off his action to the surrounding continents, he moved over a neighbour continent and brought his glans really close before touching it. While he was enjoying the thought of whether he should touch the ground or not with the glans's slit, every living things was killed by the smell and heat coming from the glans.

He decided to clean off the small quantity of smegma that had accumulated at the junction of his glans and foreskin by rubbing it on the continent.

The continent was being crushed as the gigantic cock was rubbing on it, decreasing the human population of the continent.

"Geez, don't get caught in it without my permission. If the continent gets stuck on the head, you'll start populating again on it."

Mankind could only pray. Hoping the young God's cock move elsewhere before their continent is erased from the map.

They didn't know if their wish was being realized, but just before the continent was completely pulverized, the young God's glans was being lifted, halting the destruction.

"I know! I'll let you guys live on the condition that you clean the remaining smegma off my cock."

He picked what was left of the continent and dropped it on the head. Thus God gave mankind their new purpose of existence.

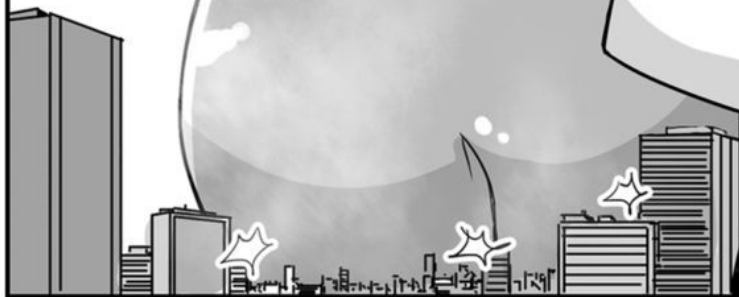

RUMBLE...

Poke out

Boing

Since it was now possible to create shrunken copies of many different things, there's been an increasing number of people using such technology for naughty play.

A city appeared on top of the table today, just like before. When a complete copy is made of a real city everything is replicated, right down to the people living in it.

The people were surprised by the sudden environment change and a huge cock silently rose from far beyond the horizon.

Even though the humans were too tiny to see, he knew he was exposed to millions of them looking up at him. His cock was gradually plumping up, but started to bend on the table's edge.

The vibrations made by his erect cock alone were enough to prove disastrous to the shrunken population.

The whole city shook, and the people were tormented by the musty smell coming from his glans.

The thought of overwhelming this city with only his genitals made his crotch throb even bigger again.

Excited

I tried to place my dick softly on the city, but it must have been a major impact for the tiny people. A huge thud was made when my gigantic genitals settled on the ground. It was a euphoric experience to know the microscopic buildings were smashed in the blink of an eye. My hot cock on the cold city was also a pleasant feeling.

When I slowly moved my waist from side to side, the damage done to the city multiplied exponentially. The skyscrapers that resided in the inner part of the city vanished under the glans's frenulum, while the shopping district up to the residential area were flattened under the shaft.

Is it possible that even the blood vessels showing up on my cock are bigger than the buildings?

It might be a little wasteful, but the sensation is too overwhelming. Being this big and having fun attacking buildings means the surroundings were also swept up and ground under the glans. This city is way too brittle, and will break no matter what is done to it.

THUD

Crush

Crash

Glop

Ah, sorry. Some precum started leaking out. If you don't escape fast enough, you might get caught in it and unable to move.

Why are you moving away so slowly?
Do you really want to survive?

Drip...

Crush

Destroying cities using only my cock became a daily habit, but sometimes I want to try something else. That resulted in me trying to use my testicles to crush them.

I stood up carefully on a chair, and slowly lowered myself on the table. It's quite embarrassing to have my butt sticking out like this, but nobody would see it anyway. Nobody but the tiny people, that is.

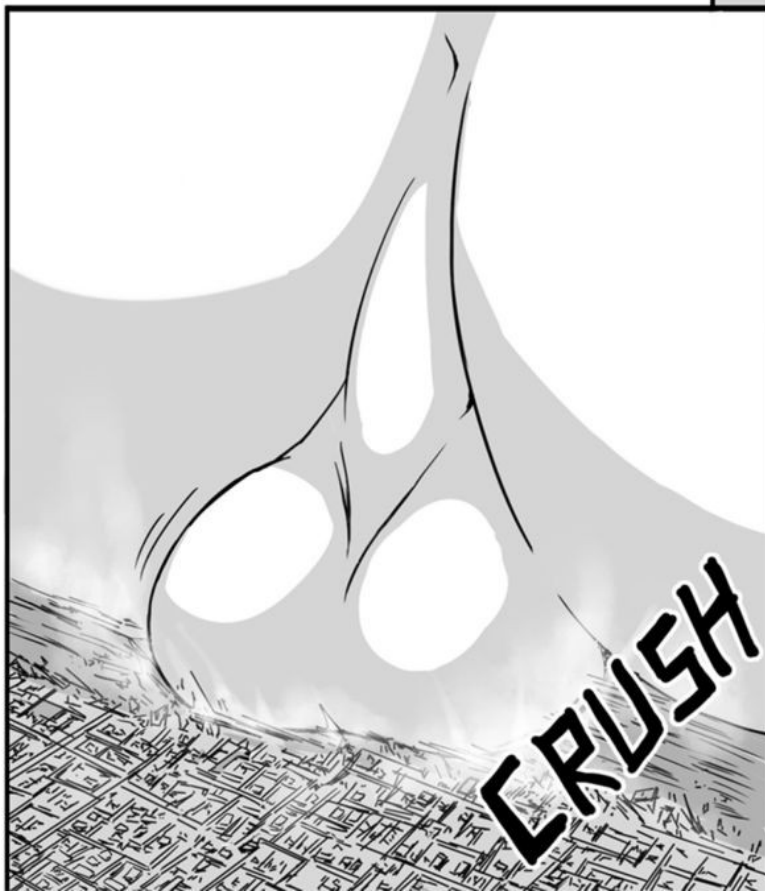

"Was it around here?" I positioned myself over the city, covering it in shadow once I stopped moving.

"Hehe, how are the tiny people reacting right now?" They would never have thought or dreamed that their whole city could be crushed under a giant's scrotum.

I could have dropped those two gigantic, meteorite-sized testicles any time I wanted on the city. I peeked under my crotch, as I was having a lot fun moving them as close as possible to the city without touching it.

RUMBLE

I got a little carried away with my games, and accidentally grazed the city with my testicles, crushing the buildings and people that were underneath.

"Oh well." I told myself before sitting on the table like this. The feeling of flattening the city with my butt and genitals was really enjoyable.

Since my butt was sticking out, the testicles pressed completely on the surface and a lot more buildings became victims of my balls.

It was pleasant to feel the skyscrapers bursting against the surface of the testicles. I moved my waist from left to right, trying to enjoy the sensation of the city's destruction even more.

Or, better yet, maybe I should destroy this little city with just my whole butt?

One day I discovered my classmate Yuki wearing girl's clothes. He was somewhat timid, but looked just like any other girl.

I didn't know Yuki had such a hobby, so I decided to use this opportunity to transfer a couple of cities to the tip of his phimosis dick hidden underneath his skirt.

He shouldn't have been able to feel the weight of those cities, but he seemed to have felt a ticklish feeling during the transfer.

Millions of people were living in the cities clinging to Yuki's cock as he started to get an erection.

Musty

Crumble

Fall

Yuki had been forced into playing with the tiny cities initially, but now he's really into it.

Since I first explained to him how to use the shrunken copy machine, he's used it to make cities a couple of centimeters in diameter and grind them completely under the tip of his cock.

Yuki's glans was so engorged it looked painful as he moved it to the city and held it a few hundred meters overhead. The musty smell from his glans filled the air while the tiny people fled for their lives. Those directly underneath the glans fled from where it looked like it would strike down, but they knew that running away wasn't a real option.

A small amount of space had been left between Yuki's genitals and the city. He took great pride in comparing the size of his cock to the tiny, mold-like civilization, before he began to move his body.

Slowly and cautiously, he moved his cock closer to the ground.

Soon enough, the tip touched the city and most of the small world was flattened. The surface in the city where the glans landed was pushed deep into the ground. He never intended to push too hard, but the world was way too weak compared to Yuki's cock.

"Huh?" Yuki said, looking disappointed when he peeked under his crotch. Once he lifted the glans back up in the sky, he was able to see the former tiny city in ruins. Clouds of dust picked up while debris fell from the sky.

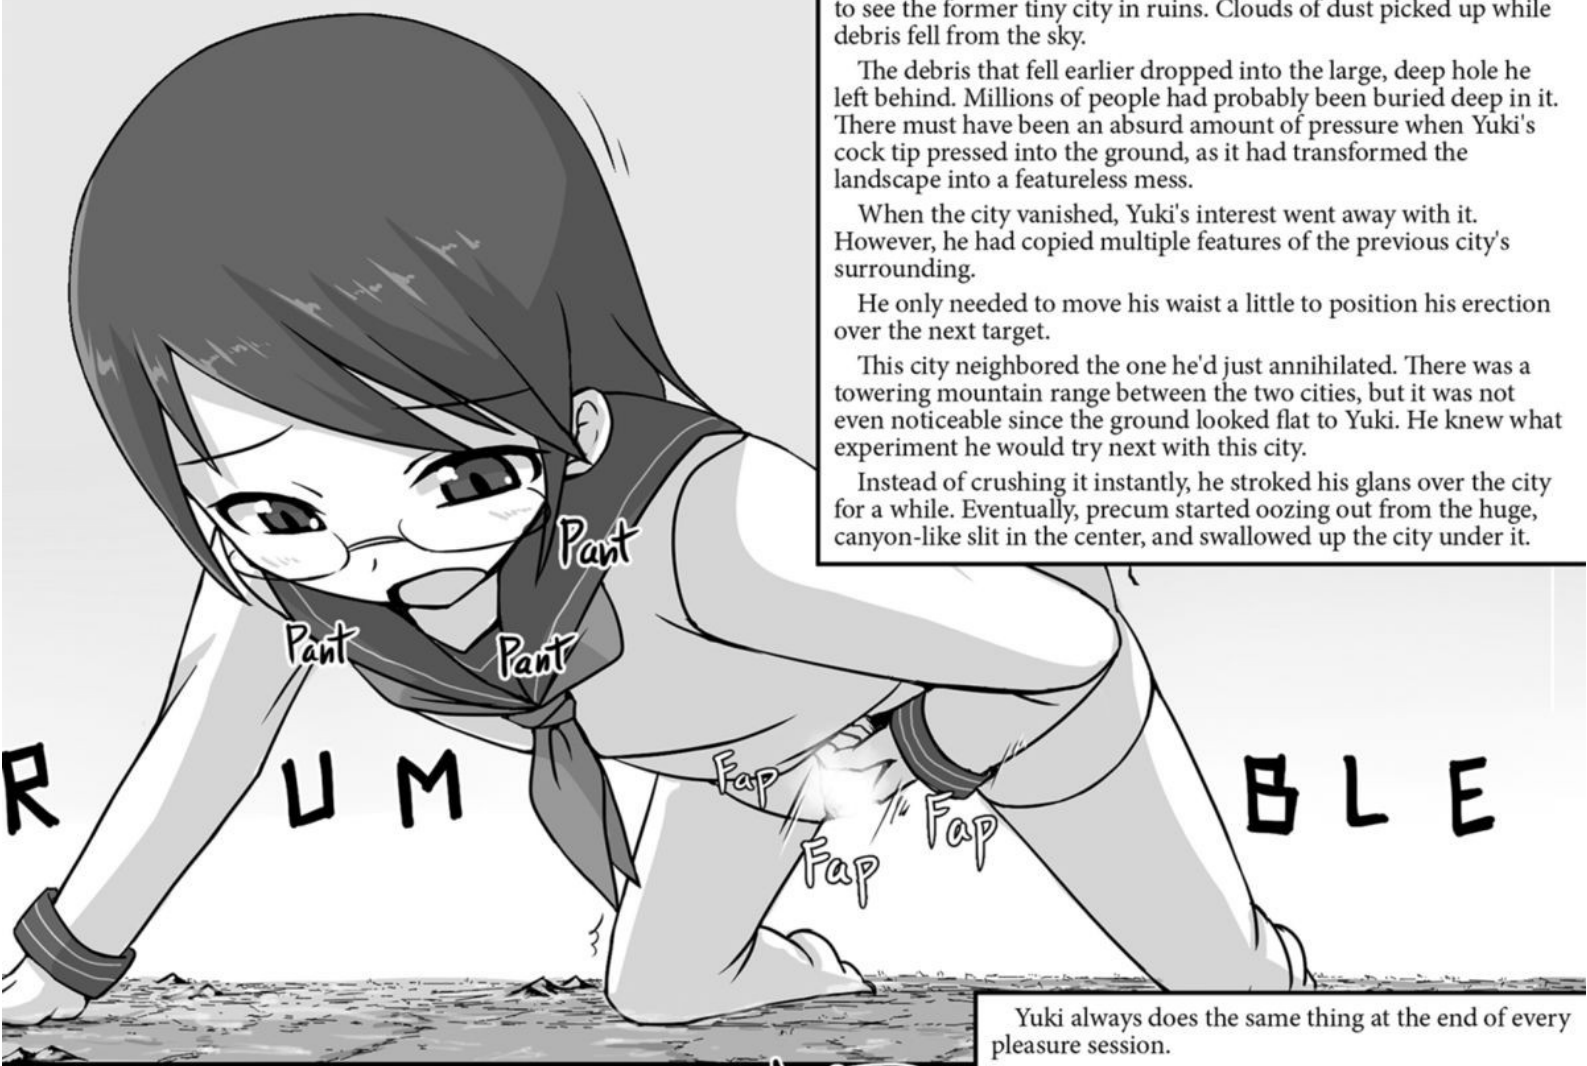

The debris that fell earlier dropped into the large, deep hole he left behind. Millions of people had probably been buried deep in it. There must have been an absurd amount of pressure when Yuki's cock tip pressed into the ground, as it had transformed the landscape into a featureless mess.

When the city vanished, Yuki's interest went away with it. However, he had copied multiple features of the previous city's surrounding.

He only needed to move his waist a little to position his erection over the next target.

This city neighbored the one he'd just annihilated. There was a towering mountain range between the two cities, but it was not even noticeable since the ground looked flat to Yuki. He knew what experiment he would try next with this city.

Instead of crushing it instantly, he stroked his glans over the city for a while. Eventually, precum started oozing out from the huge, canyon-like slit in the center, and swallowed up the city under it.

Yuki always does the same thing at the end of every pleasure session.

He copies part of a country and masturbates over it. When he ejaculates, anything that takes a direct hit from his flying sperm gets blown away. He doesn't intentionally aim anywhere, and just blasts at whatever he points to when he cums.

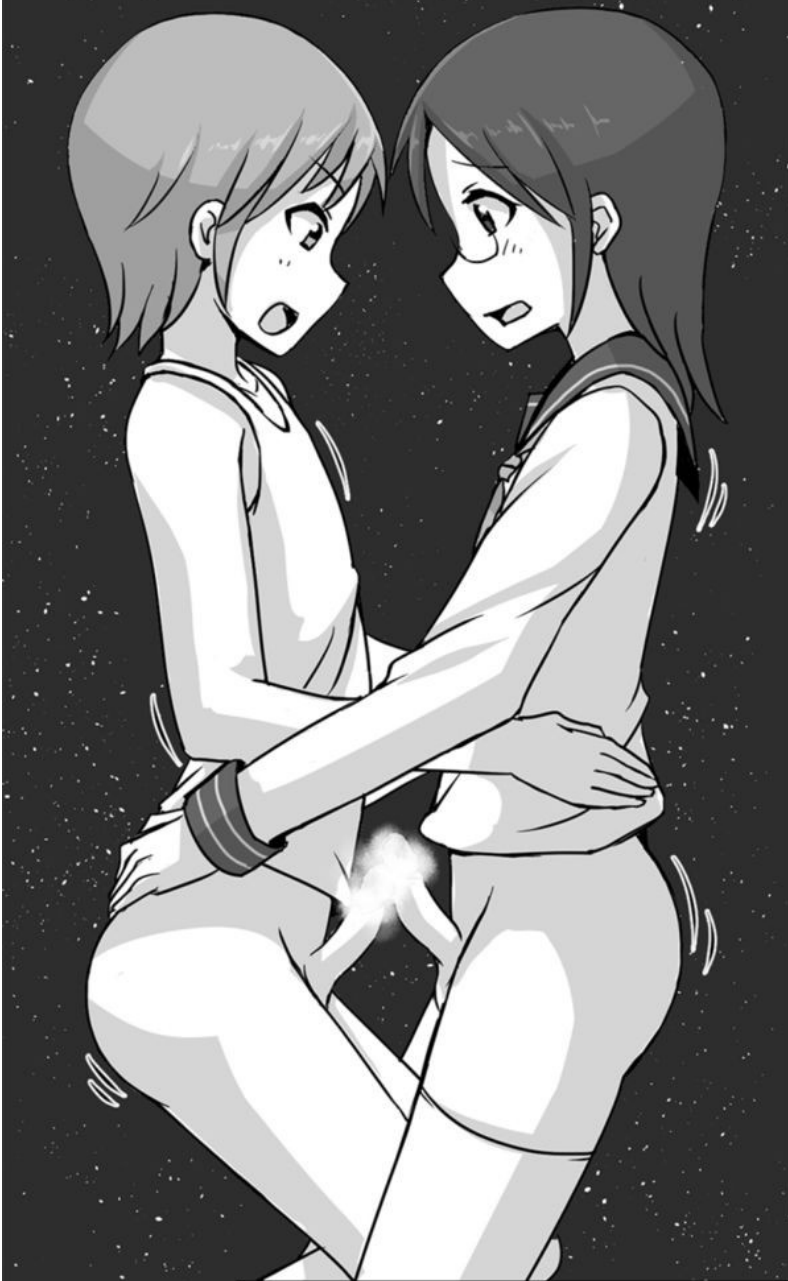

This world of tiny people can't do anything about the crossdressing boy masturbating. So they pray that their own city doesn't get destroyed by the giant's semen.

His voice gradually gets rougher and his body suddenly shivers. That's when Yuki reaches his climax.

The huge amount of semen impressively spreads and strikes the tiny people's world. His ejaculation has so much force that if a single drop falls on a city, it can easily destroy at least half of it.

The fate of the tiny people's world is in the hand of his ejaculation.

When they decided to make a copy of space on a whim, their bodies began to float in darkness. The zero gravity space was produced, but they still seemed able to breath. Even the planets were included, and floating in the space around their bodies.

They were both thinking of new ways to play with these planets. Once they targeted a single entity, they put it in the space between their cocks as they came closer together.

Right now, the billions of humans living on the planet were on the verge of destruction.

The cocks of these boys were about ten times thicker than the diameter of the planet and they were coming closer and closer from both sides.

The planet missed the two incoming cocks by a hair's breadth. The planet was thousands of kilometers away from the location where both glans collided and was jolted hard from the stimulus. If it had been caught between these two, the orb would have been turned into a shapeless lump of soil without any effort.

The giant boy's genitals were so absurdly huge that they couldn't even be comprehended by the people on the planet.

Mankind looked up at the space that wasn't black anymore. The tip of the young boy's genitals replaced the sky, and the bright pink glans steadily approached them.

Devil's Advent

One day, the land was suddenly covered in darkness. Anyone who looked up at the sky panicked at the sudden appearance of a gigantic body.

What looked like a soft and round shaped object was about to settle on the continent. No one knew it was the butt of the devil who'd just woken up from a long sleep.

He was showing his intimate part to the germ sized humans, but nudity didn't bother the devil as he yawned loudly.

"Hmm, what's... this? It seems something strange is breeding over here."

He rubbed his sleepy eyes before wondering about how the land had changed since he'd gone to sleep. When he was last awake, there were very few humans. They would build small villages, and could only pray every day they didn't get trampled under the devil's feet.

When the devil started his slumber, they found a nice place on the continent to flourish. Their nests had grown exponentially ever since.

After he went to sleep the devil returned to his own world, and he disappeared from the human world for a while. Stories about him were passed down history until, eventually, mankind stopped believing them. He became nothing more than a character from folklore and fairy-tales.

Then the devil from those tales showed up in front of mankind once again. The figure with a string holding his hair looked really similar to a human, except for his size, which was on a completely different level.

He was so huge that if he lied down on the continent, his limbs would extend beyond the land, and if he stepped one time on it, it would probably be impossible to count the number of cities crushed inside his footprint.

Because of his size, mankind was unable to do anything against the devil as he put his hands in the sea and brought his face closer to the continent.

eyeballs tens of kilometers wide observed the human nests from above.

The devil's butt hanging over the continent was replaced by the shadow from his face peering down at the world.

The devil's eyes focused on the green land, particularly on the gray, mold-like areas.

Even though it was far enough to be hazy, the devil's face was far too big to fit entirely in the tiny people's field of vision. It only took one eye to fill the sky, and his realization was more than enough to make people faint.

"...You've done a good job populating the land. I'm amazed."

The humans were spreading their nests so rapidly they were repainting the green land and the devil snorted. A city right under the nose was instantly annihilated from the action.

A shock wave burst from the sky and swept houses and buildings into pieces. Thousands of residents were blown away at the same time, instantly dying from collisions against debris in midair or when they slammed back on the ground.

It seemed as if the hypocenter of the explosion was the exact middle of the city. Only a deep crater was left behind.

As the devil inhaled from his nose again, the city's debris and humans were sucked up into the air and swallowed along with the oxygen. As the debris disappeared into the devil's nostrils they collided where nose hair usually grows and smashed into finer pieces.

The humans were thrown against the black, thick hairs and made bursting sounds as they turned into red smudges.

The devil wasn't even aware of the catastrophe he made by breathing.

"Hmph... I have to keep the balance. The more you multiply, the more I have to exterminate."

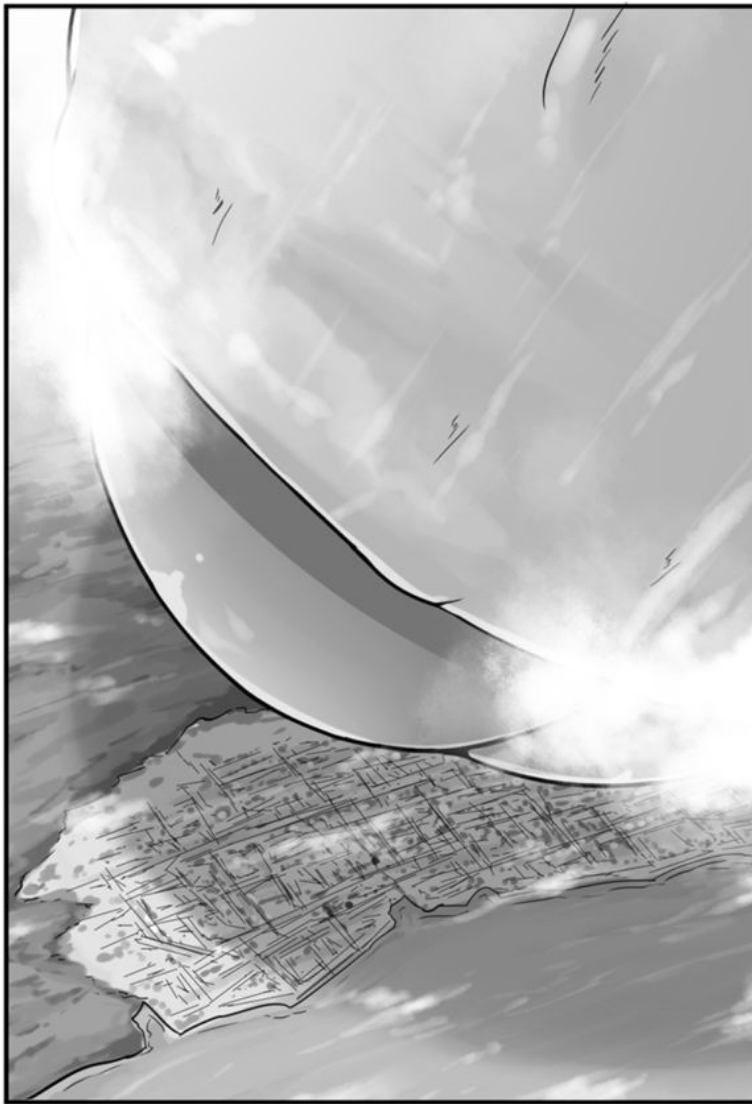

The devil lifted his face and stood up. He brought a hand to his chin, pondering for a while until he came up with an idea.

"How about I play with you using my thing for a little bit?"

The devil said as he grinned maliciously. He had come up with the most humiliating way to torment mankind.

His hand slid down to his crotch, and the imposing thing started to throb.

The devil repositioned himself over the sea, and spread his huge legs on each side of the continent so he wouldn't crush it. Then, his hand went to his fully exposed crotch and picked up the shaft with his fingers.

"Watch out, my cock is going to falll."

Foreskin was still covering part of the devil's cock. The pink glans about halfway out of the foreskin, and revealing its round shape as it hung high over the coastal city.

The city was massive to the humans, but the circumference of the devil's glans was a good deal bigger, and its shadow completely overwhelmed the city.

If the devil were to simply lower his crotch, the whole city would undoubtedly be erased by the the tip of the devil's cock.

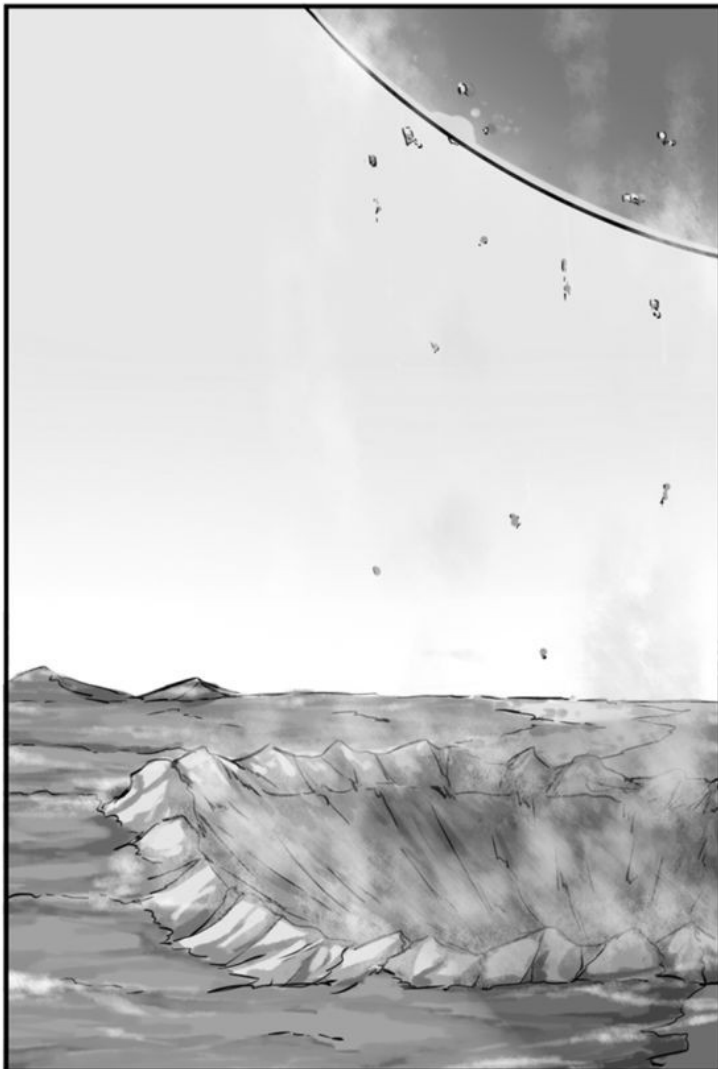

"Look how tiny you are. How miserable you are. Now, let's put an end to you by letting my cock land on you."

The devil looked like he was having fun, but the same couldn't be said for the humans. The city was in complete chaos as people tried to run away as fast as they can. Many thousands screamed at the same time as the devil's crotch closed in on them, becoming even larger.

The city continued to be scorched by the heat and stench coming from the devil's glans; it was on the verge of destruction. People were fainting one after the other from the intense fishy smell, resulting in a wave of damages due to accidents.

The devil's glans dropped from the clouds and touched the skyscrapers. It started with the roof and crushed the people who were too slow to flee between each floors as it went on. Department stores and medium-rise buildings were the next to get caught underneath the colossal glans as it continued to crush the smaller buildings and houses in the city.

The glans didn't stop as it pressed into the ground. The earth was pulverized and pushed around as it buried itself hundreds of meters deep. The residential and facilities area of the city's suburbs collapsed from the shaking and were swallowed up in the ground's fissures. The glans was halfway in the ground before it finally stopped going any further.

"Oops, it seems I put it too close."

Even though the tip of the glans is sensitive, he didn't feel the sensations of crushing the city. The roughness of the buildings built by the humans was not even enough to stimulate the devil's glans.

The devil wasn't even aware he touched it and lifted the shaft with his hand to confirm the current state of the city.

A large portion of the crushed city was stuck under the glans as it was lifted up into the sky. Compressed beyond recognition, the remains that had stuck to the surface fell and vanished in the crater right underneath it.

"I thought I could play with it a little, but... that's too bad. I wanted to feel you, even if you are too tiny."

He stroked his raised glans to remove the dirt that was stuck on it.

"Oh well, I was able to get rid of millions of animals. Hehehe... A suitable end for such inferior living things. You'll get stuck to my cock just like smegma."

The shaft bounced as the cock's head was moved towards one of the neighbouring cities.

"Which one should I crush next? Hmm..."

He was able to attack any of the cities he wanted on a whim. The devil was enjoying himself at the sight of the humans trying to flee desperately when he brought his genitals over a city. Once he gave them some time to escape, the fingers that held the shaft suddenly released it.

Another city disappeared from the continent by this simple action. Gravity pulled the glans down to the ground, where it blew away chunks of the earth's crust. The city beneath couldn't withstand the impact at all, and the shockwave was able to partially collapse the buildings of neighbour cities.

"Please wait a little. It'll soon be your turn to be crushed to death too."

The devil pinched and lifted his shaft again, grinning maliciously as he looked down at another safe city.

The devil's huge cock started to mass murder the population caught beneath it. He intentionally avoided sitting onto the landmass, but he used his shaft to touch the continent and crush its cities.

The civilization mankind had managed to build was pulverized and assimilated into the ground in an instant by the devil's glans. The towering skyscrapers they'd built and the deep underground shelters they'd dug up alike were finely demolished by the compression into the earth's crust. No matter how sturdy the construction, the devil's shaft remained undeterred.

He felt a rubbing sensation against the continent. Like a continuous stream of hot water was hitting against his glans.

"Hmm... This stimulation feels quite good. Getting rid of the germs at the same time is like killing two birds with one stone."

The devil slowly turned his waist so his genitals slid along the continent, passing over city after city.

"Huh? This is quite a large nest. I'll crush it all in one go with my cock."

While the devil was impressed, he moved his waist in a circular movement to make sure the entire city was completely reduced to nothing.

"Is this... a mountain? Hmm, everything is so tiny. I'll be able to easily conquer this world using only my cock."

Even the soaring mountain ranges that crossed the continent were swallowed under his shaft and embedded deep in the ground. It then rolled over a sea of trees before approaching the next city.

"Yawn... seems I killed a large number already. Let's see, how should I start invading the inland?"

The devil didn't even bother crushing the smaller towns. He moved his waist from side to side while yawning, since the coast was already mostly crumpled up in destruction and there wasn't much left to do.

The devil's butt rose up from the sea and the ocean water gushed in to fill his butt's imprint.

"My butt got cold from sitting too long in the sea. Let's warm it up then."

Something huge approached from the horizon. It stretched in the sky, attached to a bigger body that was unseen beyond the clouds. Giant screens on skyscrapers showed images from news helicopters of the neighbouring city being swallowed up. The pink tip slid over sections of the city, crushing everything under it. The glistening coming from the organic vivid pink wall was captivating as it slammed into buildings and exploded them into debris.

People were desperately trying to wriggle through the congested streets, and drive in between buildings to run away. If they looked at the images carefully near the pink wall, they would see tiny people the size of grains being swallowed up in the blink of an eye.

Viewers who looked up at the giant screens screamed at the same time or decided to run away in the opposite direction.

For others, it was all too unreal. People who refused to accept it weren't able to even move their legs.

A towering mountain range that separated the two cities suddenly started to crumble before it was violently blown away by the pink wall that appeared.

That mountain range was pulverized, and the sounds of its destruction shook the city moments later. Unable to withstand the violent vibrations, many people crouched, and gazed up at the sky.

Way past the clouds and haze was something too big to comprehend. The huge thing that swallowed the city is only one part of the body they couldn't see up in the sky.

The being isn't that much different to the humans, but is so huge they can't even recognize it. That godlike presence is just giving the humans their punishment.

Vibrations are getting gradually stronger. When people looked at the horizon, they saw the pink wall stretching before them. It is still far away, but its absurd size makes it look as if it's closer. A familiar huge radio tower snapped and was engulfed in a cloud of dust.

Eventually, it was impossible to stand anymore and everyone around became nothing more than smears on the pink wall.

The devil's butt was approaching the continent, and he positioned it over the green land before dropping it. Each of the devil's gigantic testicles were as big around as an asteroid, and as they came into contact with the continent they crushed everything underneath them. The huge scrotum that hung from devil's crotch fell calmly, and mankind could only look up at what was happening.

The humans were such a miserable race they weren't able to understand what was falling onto them. Each of the flesh colored objects measured tens of kilometers in diameter. They were able to engulf the cities, mountains and everything else while they spread over a larger area, squeezing softly against the ground. It had taken the humans many decades and advanced engineering skills to construct the buildings and develop the cities, but they didn't even last a second against devil's testicles before being flattened into the ground.

"You better escape as fast as you can before my butt settles down."

A sensation of popping from the world under his thighs, the ballsack, and the shaft started. The sunlight was blocked to more than half the continent by the devil's butt. In the world of darkness, the air temperature continued to rise from the heat of the devil's body. The smell of sweat between the butt's crack, the testicles and the thighs washed over the continent. The cities were wrapped in the devil's pheromones, driving the humans mad and removing any semblance of normal thought.

Everyone who was escaping stopped in their tracks suddenly, and looked up with motionless pupils. Up in the sky, the impending ceiling of flesh was coming right for them. Millions of people held their arms wide open, waiting to feel the devil's warmth. Another city vanished when the weight of the devil's testicles landed right on top of them with a huge, dull thud. Then the devil swayed his waist from side to side, carefully grinding his butt against the continent. The movement didn't last long, and the world was shrouded in silence.

"Hmph..."

The devil groaned as wrinkles appeared on his frowning forehead. Since his butt was so huge, the space directly under his butt's crack contained cities that were still intact. The residents looked up at the looming anus that was so huge it could easily swallow the entire city they lived in.

The devil's anus started to flex, plumping up as it rises. In an instant, it rose several kilometers high. Higher than any mountain in the world. Nobody thought the crater in the center of that anus would have opened up wide and many cities, along with the Earth's crust itself, would be blown to pieces.

Poisonous gas spewed tens of kilometers from the devil's anus in every direction. The force of that fart turned even the mountains into ashes. The dense gas that had fermented for more than a millennia inside the devil's body was tinted yellow as it blew away everything on.

The area close to the devil's butt disappeared suddenly when the powerful shockwave from the fart destroyed everything in its path. The world shook from the roar and even other continents felt its tremors. The force of the fart from the devil's butt petered out as it was getting farther away, but it was still a threat to mankind. Other people from far over the horizon saw the stagnant cloud of sand approaching them. Hundreds of kilometers away, the sky was covered by it and mountains were blasted into pieces upon contact.

The devil's fart was closing in on the people who fled the cities in jumbo jets and they exploded one after the other as they get swallowed by the gas. Forests were turned into wasteland as they get engulfed and the wave made its way towards more cities. The greenery of the continent was transformed into a brownish wasteland. After a while, the lingering scent of the devil's fart hung in the air and the sunlight was blocked by the yellow colored atmosphere.

Living things suffered in agony before dying from breathing the contaminated air. Those who used gas masks or took refuge into underground shelters weren't able to escape their fate either. Upon contact to the devil's gas, the buildings dissolved, gas masks melted and people were falling one by one.

A whole continent was ruined by a single fart from the devil. From that single move, a continent where mankind had prospered was now transformed into a hellish world where no living things could survive.

"Phew... that feels better. Anyway, to think you could perish from only a careless fart from me..."

He seemed slightly embarrassed as he was looking at the continent that was ruined just now.

"Hmph, I didn't even let out a lot. Geez, I only farted once."

Some continents floating over the ocean were in the devil's line of sight. The fate of these countries was now in the devil's hand.

"Which country should I make smell them next? Hehehe."

As the devil rose from the ground, the continent's ruins that were stuck to his lower body started falling off. After a few steps, he reached a neighbour continent and stepped over to the other side before stopping. He starting crouching again and tried to search for the biggest city he could find.

The devil laid down on the world's ever-growing wasteland. The greenery had disappeared, the seas had dried up, and the human world was being transformed into a hell not too different than the demon's world.

Mankind couldn't live on this land anymore and needed to find a new place to move to.

As the napping devil laid on his back, broken continents were scattered on his light-pink areola.

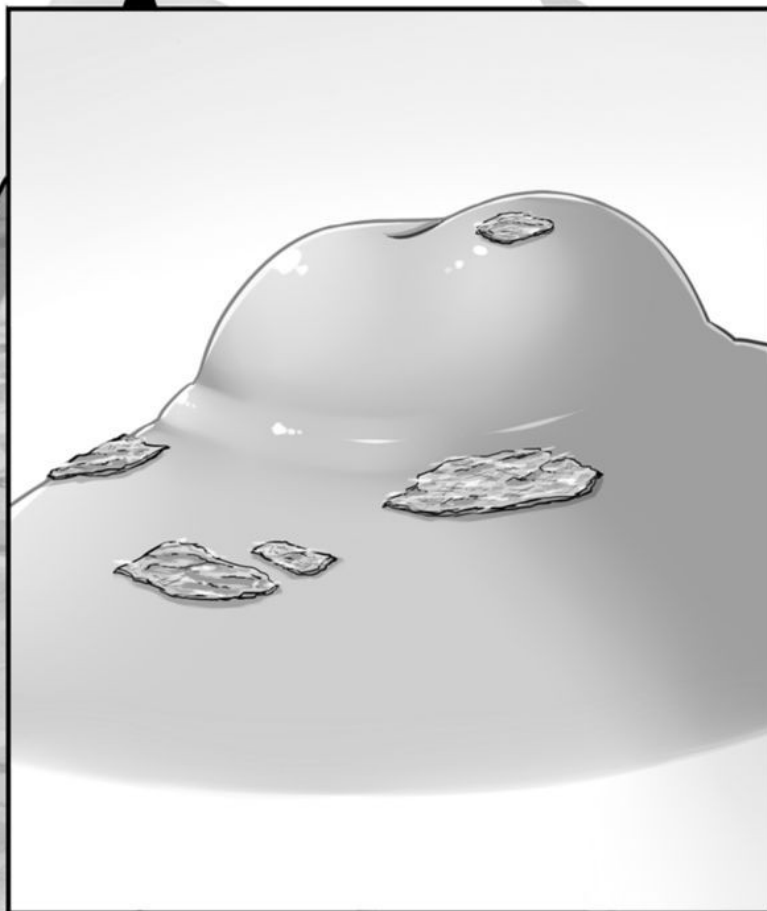

At the center of his areola, the devil's nipple soared to an altitude of a thousand kilometers high. Chunks of land stuck to the base of the skin where humans built cities and tried to survive.

"Is my nipple comfortable? Hmm, humans are so cute like this. I may let you live on my body forever."

The devil's words rumbled and echoed through the world. Mankind who lived on top of the nipple was frightened as they weren't able to understand his explosive roars and immediately prayed to God.

"Hehehe, sorry. Did I scare you? Don't worry, you're safe on my nipple."

The devil gently caressed his nipple, crushing billions of humans living on the continent.

Without knowing where the world they lived in was anymore, mankind's history restarted again.

The cities expanded, rebuilding countries over the ruined continents, and mankind bred until they were filled.

As the population started to saturate, they were now starting to quarrel with themselves. At first, they were fighting neighbour countries, but they eventually started to cross the devil's areola to invade the neighbouring continents.

"Hmph, hey! What are you doing? Making a fuss by yourself..."

Many explosions appeared on the pink surface between the continents as war raged on.

This seemed to bother the devil as he looked down. He couldn't even feel an itch for all the microorganism's fuss on top of his nipple, but he didn't quite like that they were doing as they pleased.

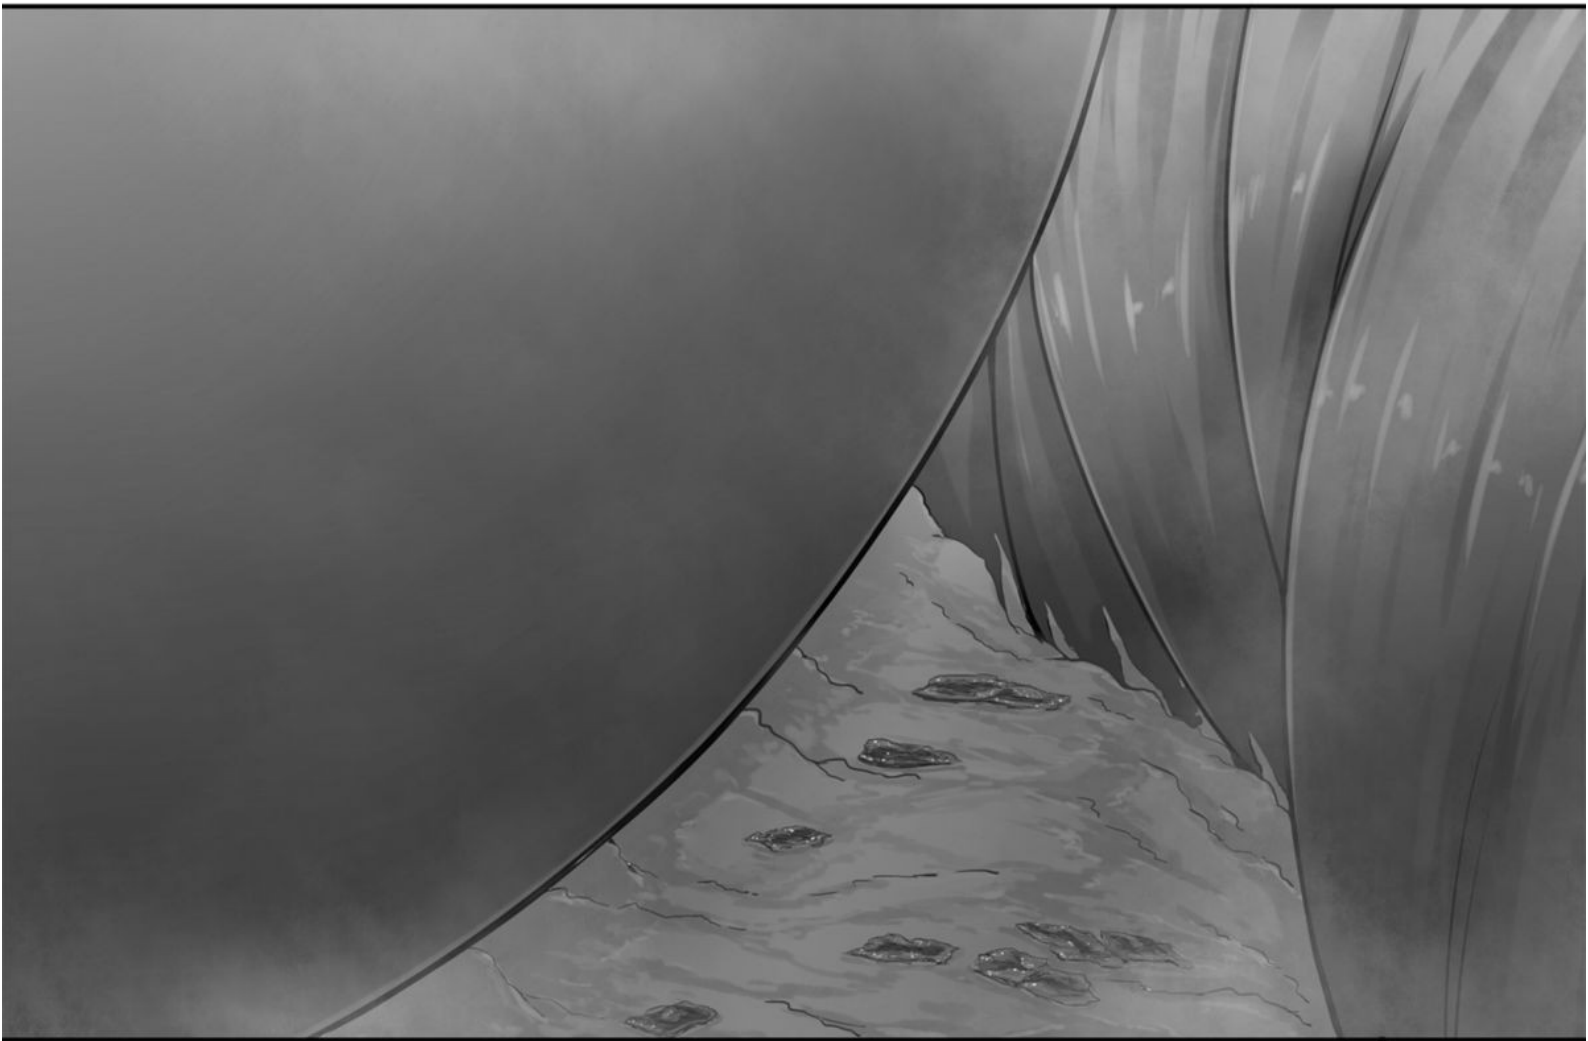

"You all need to be punished. Everyone's guilty."

After thinking about it for some time, the devil brought his finger to the nipple and started transferring each of the continents to a different place.

At the same time, the already huge devil's body began to grow again.

"Hmm... Sometimes it's nice to return to my original size. I feel so cramped in a small body."

Suddenly the vast land where he laid upon became smaller until the devil's body protruded from this world and started to float in outer space.

Mankind somehow survived, but they were trapped in an enclosed place with a strong stench. There was a very small space between the devil's foreskin and the edge of his glans. Many continents were placed on the accumulated smegma inside that space.

In the end, the continents were on the same level as his smegma and lights were still flickered in the cities that were hidden from sunlight.

"I'll let you reflect on your actions in there for centuries. Hehe, you'd better pray you don't get kneaded by the smegma."

The devil's shaft was wrapped in a 5000 kilometers thick foreskin. There was a journey of tens of thousands kilometers to go from the base of the glans up to the urethra.

Intent on escaping this hell, mankind tried to use all means possible to get to the tip of the glans. Unfortunately, their continents were trapped on top of the sea of smegma. Once they successfully crossed over it, they reached the base of the towering glans where the inner skin was filled with countless creases.

"Hmm... This isn't quite as enjoyable when I can't see you."

Mankind was trapped with the devil's glans for quite a while. The devil boringly shook his shaft as it bounced a little. Decades later, he randomly decided to pinch the foreskin and peeled it off, showing the glans to the outside world once again.

"Ohh, so you still aren't extinct. I'm really impressed."

The devil was able to confirm mankind was not yet extinct when he saw some of the dust size continents still stuck on the smegma near the base of his glans.

"This seems quite cramped. Maybe I could let you out soon?"

Mankind was freed from the top of the peeled off glans. Before long, they started to breed on top of that place while expanding their territory. The devil seemed to be tickled by their actions when he looked at them.

After a while, mankind reached the urethra at the glans's tip where they built new cities around the tens of thousands of kilometers long fissure.

"So you are making another nest right there...? Maybe I should make you see what happens when I urinate."

Unaware to the humans who were expanding their territories around the giant fissure, the devil looked at them as his bladder loosened and started to urinate.

To be continued?