Hello, Ishikei here. I had planned to release a book... But for the second time in my whole life, I ended up catching a cold and found myself bedridden and unable to do anything...

I don't have anything done, so I put together some of my rough work. I'm really sorry!!

Drawing asses is fun but for some reason I feel like I always draw them the same way and it bugs me.

I drew this for a BOOB-mousepad
so I was a little conservative with the BOOB size. On the sample her cleavage got kinda split in half and looked like they were floating so I tried to space them out a bit more...
or so I thought...
What do you think?

This step is kind of extra, but it was Zelos's 2nd anniversary so I did my best on the flowers (lol)

The next part I tried to imagine as a rough sketch for a figurine.

The girl on the left is supposed to be the sister of the girl from the left side on the previous page.

Ah, I used this girl as a rough for the cover. Pretty plain, isn't she?

Drawn for a series.
I'm going to make a
proper manga!

I couldn't draw
anything this time,
but I want to release something
at ToraMatsuri.
Probably a GochiUsa book.
