Post Script

Hello. The postscript starts here with this half-baked page.

This time, due to the boom of weird little sisters, I tried my hand at doing some little sister stuff. Though, I had a plot ready since way before. Regrettably, due to my sloppy disposition, I didn't follow through with a plan and ended up barely making it in time.

That's why I'm stuck writing the post script while the book is in an unfinished state.

What's more, my PC keeled over and died, so I had to handwrite everything myself. I'm really sorry for my chicken scratches (NdT: no typeface can convey how unreadable the handwriting in this book was)...

By the way, I plan to continue this little sister thing with another book after this one, or at least, that was my original plan...

In the following pages, you'll see a brief story that takes place some days after the events of the previous chapter.

There is also some cosplay stuff I drew.

Honestly, I wanted to draw more.

Have I lost my edge?

Well, what will be will be.

I look forward to our next meeting

And last, thank you very much for purchasing this book!

Several days later

From that day on, the time Moka spent together with onii-Chan dramatically increased

Now How, as a hobby, onii-Chan is going to set the camera for me shoots videos and photos of herself to use for her blog

I also confided my secret to him

Seen through their monitors, my own figure comes to life in front of the dwellers of completely different worlds

It made my hikikomori inferiority complex disappear (through escapism). I'm also filming myself doing cosplay now!
