

I don't know how it works. Every autumn it seems to throw me into a trance.

But ma'am this is a mango cocktail...

Can I have another one?

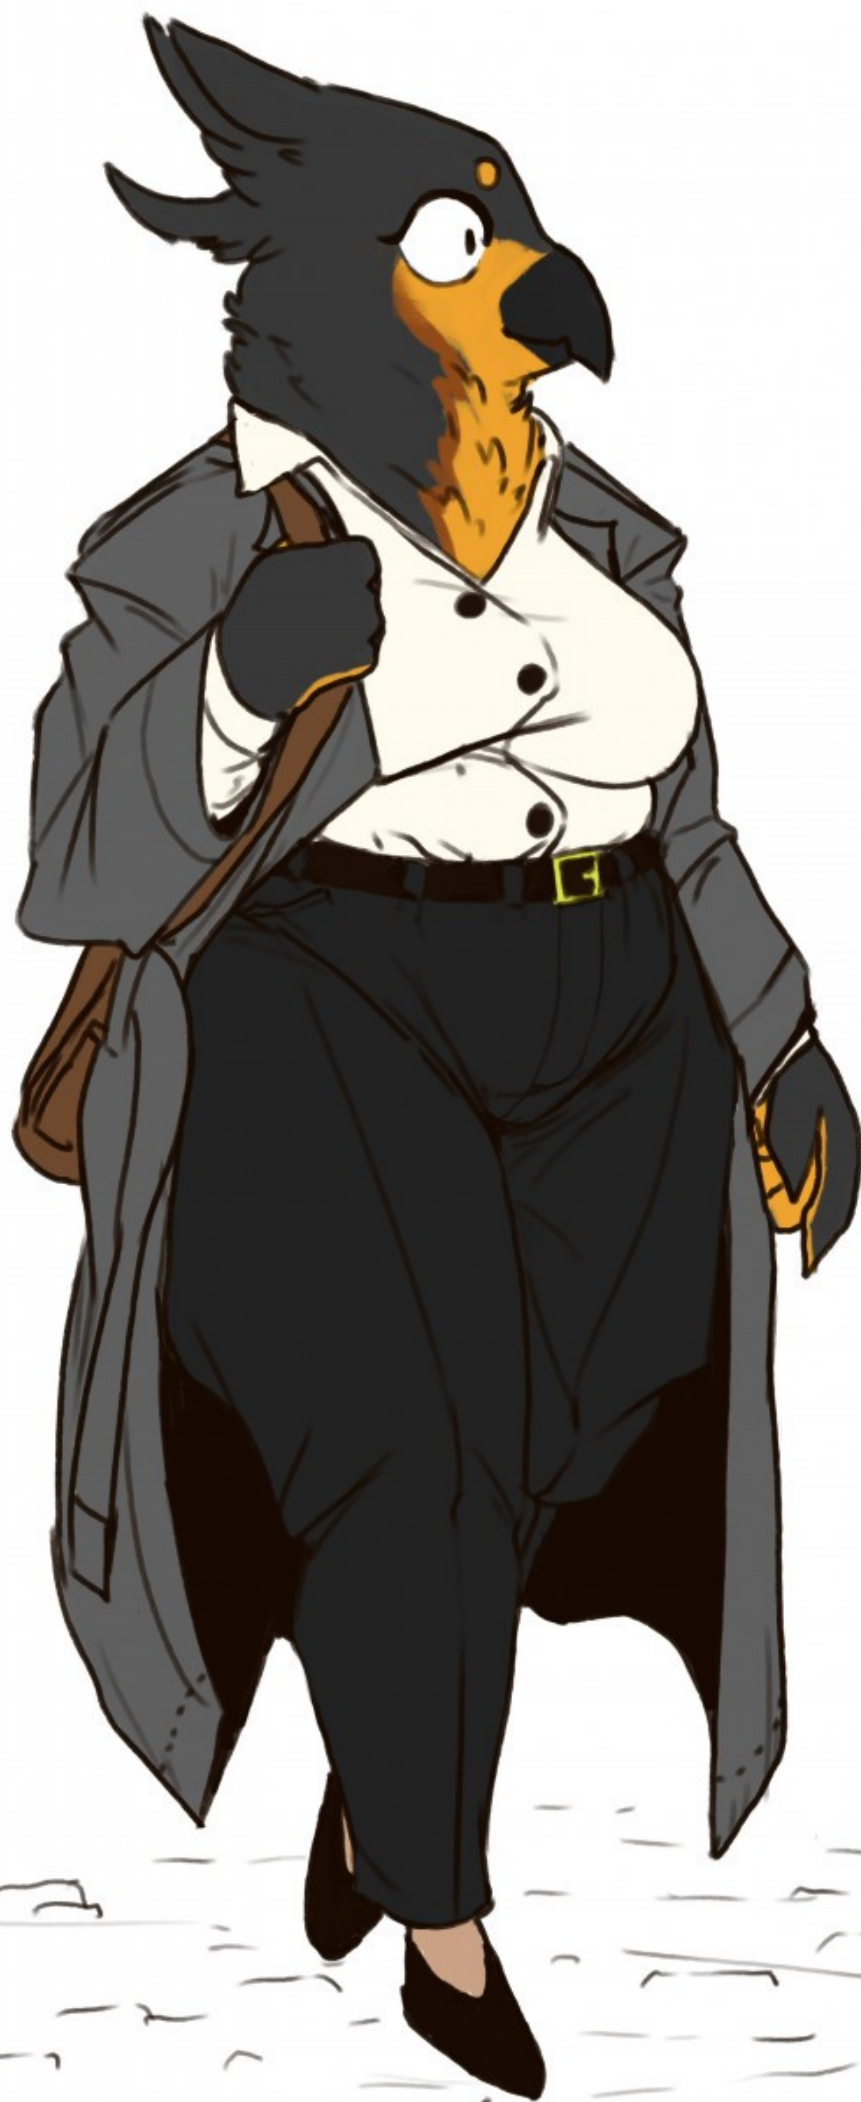

Too quiet Leafy town.

Hospital workers complain of a massive obesity epidemic among city dwellers. Hospital workers attribute this to the opening of a fast food restaurant "Mango Day". The mayor promised to investigate and personally monitor the situation, but said that he did not see the problem as he personally checked the restaurant and was confident that the purchase of bariatric equipment and amendments to the building code would be more useful.

The largest

The first fattest person on record is 26-year-old Myers, a resident of Leafy Town. According to Myers himself, he feels good, noting that the only thing that worries him is hunger. The authorities continue to reject the obesity hypedemic, advising residents to control their diet.

The authorities also note that over the past month in the city, the number of car accidents amounted to 0 accidents. Local activists are outraged by the statement as they claim that every fourth resident suffers from such severe obesity that they are is not able to use personal transport.

New technologies.

In the city, in recent months, the IT sphere, the sphere of food delivery, as well as any work from home has grown in demand and reached a record growth in the entire history of the city.
