THANK YOU FOR READING!

TRANSLATION:
SUPERNEEDLES
EDITING AND NO PROOFREADING:
SUPERNEEDLES

This project didn't take very long despite having so many pages. I originally wanted to translate the notes by the author at the end but they only consist of saying thank you and putting titles to the chapters (if you can call these even chapters lol).

Also I originally wanted to translate all sounds but reading over it again made me reconsider so I only translated the ones I deemed necessary to the understanding of what's going on.

In my first Touyou Zatsugidan translation I merely transcribes the sounds but I was told it is more distracting that way so this time I left them as they are. People should learn to read Kana anyway in my opinion :P

My Japanese really improved and I reached a point where I can read most H-stuff without looking shit up all the time. In the next year I will try to improve my general translation skills so that it sounds more natural. It's a great opportunity since I'll be spending the next 10 months in Japan and continue studying there. I really hope I can get a few translations done in that time so look forward to it!

Alright, no loli this time. What the hell is wrong with me?
I guess a little variation from time to time is healthy.

Thank you again for reading and I hope you enjoyed it. If you have any suggestions I'd be glad to hear about it! See ya!
