

The background of the cover is a collage of manga panels. Two large panels at the top show two nude female characters hanging from a horizontal bar with their arms raised. They are wearing green wrist and ankle cuffs. The character on the left has black hair and a distressed expression, while the one on the right has brown hair and a more neutral, albeit still distressed, expression. In the center, a smaller panel shows a female character with brown hair, wearing a white school uniform with a red bow and blue skirt, sitting on the floor and making peace signs with both hands. Other smaller panels in the background show various characters, some looking surprised or concerned.
