

Demons have suddenly infested an abandoned castle in the remote countryside.

Each day, they lure the locals to obscene orgies, ruining daily life.

But so far, none have returned.

Concerned with the situation, the Church has sent envoys demanding they leave,

We've got reasons why we're here too! Right now in the demon world, the Demon King and other bigwigs are fighting.

Then isn't that the same as right now!? What's with that haughty point of view!

Huh!?

The Church will overlook your foolishness this time.

And in exchange?

Our side demands that you depart from this castle and release every human.

We're just weak succubi, so it's become really hard for us to live there!

DEMON KING MILDEA

BALZAL OF THE BIG FOUR

Humans are coming here of their own will and then staying, you know?

We haven't tied anything up, you know? The gate was open, right?

That's not true.

It's because you demons tricked us humans.

In general, you're saying that you want us to give back this crumbling castle that had been empty until now. Are you kids who want something after it's been taken?

They're seeking pleasure.
