Page 5:

Oni - are demons usually portrayed as hideous, gigantic ogre-like creatures with sharp claws, wild hair, and two long horns growing from their heads. They are humanoid for the most part and their skin may be any number of colors, but red and blue are particularly common.

Momotarou (Peach Boy) - According to the tale Momotarou came to Earth inside a giant peach which was found floating down a river by an old, childless woman. When she and her husband tried to open it they discovered the child who explained to them that he has been sent by Heaven to be their son.

Years later, Momotarou left his parents to fight a band of marauding oni on a distant island where he and his animal friends penetrated the demons' fort and beat the band of demons into surrendering. Momotarou and his new friends returned home with the demons' plundered treasure and the demon chief as a captive. Momotarou and his family lived comfortably from then on.
