Today, I've graduated from being an earthling's sister.

Hello, it's Miyasaka Miyu.

This is the third story featuring Yukiya and Sheru-chan in the "As of today, I've become an Earthling's little sister" series ♪

It's okay if you haven't read the other two stories yet, but I think it'll be more fun if you have...!

If you haven't read them, then please read the summary included below...!

I'd be very happy if you had fun reading the book ♪

Well then, please enjoy the book ☆

The extremely ordinary school student,
Tachibana Yukiya

Sheru's companion,
Pamu-chan

The story so far

One day, Sheru and Pamu suddenly appeared in front of Yukiya. From the distant Hamstar came an alien and her pet to join the Tachibana family, and so Yukiya began his new lifestyle with a little sister.

Sheru's sudden appearance has left Yukiya conflicted as an emotional attachment has sprouted between the two...

It's the afterword!

The story of their relationship will be suspended for now...

I was really worried about it x

In particular, Sheru-chan isn't really aware of what love is

While Yukiya-kun and I (lol) both seem to struggle with it...

For now, at least the two have been able to convey their feelings to each other...!

It's become quite an embarrassing yet sweet story *

Though I tried to keep the page count low and cram as much as I could into them,

The stories seems to get longer and longer each time

I want to keep on giving it my best effort ><

I still feel like I want to draw the two of them more in the future

Until that time comes, please kindly watch over me...!

I'd like to draw more of the two flirting together... (lol)

Well then, well then!

Until we meet next time...
