■ おわり ■

Well, I did say that it was going to be sooner than 5 months, didn't I? All I can say is that I have a lot of free time right now, and I was bored.

Just to say, I'm not a redrawer though I do everything else (translating, cleaning, typesetting, and proofreading) and this chapter did need the skills of a redrawer as it left me with two options, either block the text or place the text on top of the drawing. Which I did both. So this might look bad in some places... sorry about that.

Anyways this was the last chapter of this particular series, so I will start to look for something to translate I do have in mind that I want to work in something trap related~

I hope you liked the chapter, and until my next work!

Yours dearest, Jiko.
