While I was knocked out, it stopped raining and that woman had left the restaurant...

I still thought that when I got home but then I realized something.

Since it was such a strange thing that happened, I started thinking, maybe it was all just a dream?

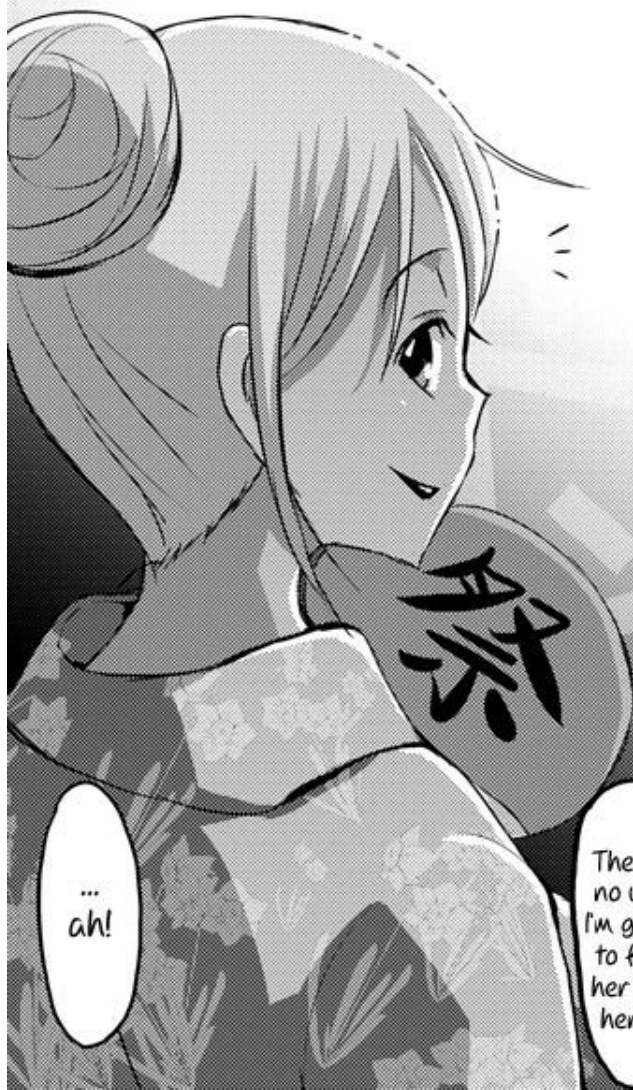

A fireworks show...

She left me a note and it was real. So that was the proof we actually met.

Thanks for everything you did for me today. I want to thank you in person so if you're free, let's meet up at the fireworks show tonight.
