Hello, hello, it's Harasaki. It's an original work this time, but then it has a source so its kinda like half-original (I've made some alterations here and there).

I think this came from an urban legend back in 2004? If you search these keywords "Snuff", "Child", "Intestines" you might get them in the top results. The expression when her innards come gushing out was excellent, so try reading it.

Although I'm drawing this as if it really happened for real, but if you read those early copy-pasted posts from those threads it seemed as if 99% of them were made-up stuff. This poor, pitiful girl with such grave cruelty inflicted upon her may not even have existed at all! So with that, please read along with a peace of mind.
