◎ Aneros

The Aneros is a male prostate massager, developed by the Aneros Company in the United States. It can also be used as a G-Spot massager for both men and women.

◎ Aneros Summary

As treatment for various prostate related illness, a doctor may insert his finger into the anus and rub the prostate in order to stimulate the secretory gland into releasing any pus stored inside of it. The Aneros was developed to allow the patient themselves to stimulate the prostate, without needing to insert any fingers or have any special knowledge.

◎ Aneros as a Sex Toy

The Aneros was originally developed as a medical tool used for male prostate massaging, but ever since it was first released, many users have reported experiencing "dry orgasms", orgasms without ejaculation, while using it. The Aneros is currently popular as a dry orgasm-inducing sex toy.

Preparations #1:
Cleaning
the rectum

It's said that, when you're not currently feeling nature's call, your rectum is already empty. A forced cleaning of the rectum can have a negative influence on the sexual play itself, so please use a method to clean up that won't place unnecessary burden on your body.

Please wait...

I showed you something so unprofessional right at the start.

I'm very sorry.

Using a glycerin based cleaning solution could cause more excrement to show itself
during play, so it's not recommended.

Instead, inject and release
some sanitary, tepid water until no more excrement comes out. Getting too fixated may cause more excrement, so after you can't see any more, be sure to finish up.

Preparations #2:
Lotion

Before injecting
any lotion,
massage
the area around your anus
with Vaseline,
or a similar cream, in order to relax the muscles.

Simply rubbing your penis and masturbating during this time will cause more pleasure than normal, but, at this point, you should instead try to endure and proceed to the next step.

While you're diligently rubbing the area around your anus, you may stimulate the erogenous zone there, causing an erection.

Regardless of how thoroughly you cleaned it, the area around your anus is home to many germs. Use a tissue with alcohol on it to disinfect.

Hauhn!

Next is the lotion. This is very important for any exercise involving an Aneros. Being stingy with the lotion could lead to an inability to experience the highest quality orgasms possible. Naturally, you must liberally apply lotion to the Aneros itself, but you must also inject a fair amount into yourself, as well.

Nozomu is currently holding a syringe normally used to inject lotion into an onahole. These are called "Love♥Injection", and can be bought at any adult shop for about 500yen for a two pack.

Also, since the Aneros we're using is the "Helix Syn", which is covered in silicon, any silicon based lotions could cause an unwanted chemical reaction, so those are no good. Glycerin, while unlikely, can cause an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach, so it's also best to avoid those.

That is, in fact,
not the case.

Insert-
tion

...And you will probably be able to imagine what kind of movements it'll make inside you.

Squeeze...

After
smearing some lotion
on it...

It's finally time to insert
the Aneros.

The Aneros
"Helix Syn" is quite a bit smaller than the average dildo, so, with the massaging around the anus from earlier, it should be able to fit inside
the anus easily.

Ngh

Ha!

Fit it in gently.
After it passes
the sphincter, the squeezing from the anus should propel the rest
in almost automatically.

It's said that the best position when using an Aneros is to lie down side-ways, with your upper leg pulled up to your chest area.

After you've inserted it, simply move into whatever position is most comfortable for you, taking deep breaths until the Aneros stops feeling strange inside you.

Naturally, if that were how things worked, it would be quite inconvenient when having bowel movements. At first, you must gradually enjoy the slight pleasure, collecting all the pleasure into one spot while relaxing.

Don't expect to end up as pictured left...

immediately after inserting the Aneros.

As mentioned before in regards to body position, lying down sideways is the most orthodox, but there are no strict rules regarding position.

Breathe

Breathe

Sideways while hugging the leg simply puts pressure on the stomach, and gives the Aneros easy access to the prostate. However, personal preference is the most important here.

Looking at reviews for the product, there are many positions people enjoy, such as lying face up or face down, crouching, and even on all fours. For those that find they can't dry orgasm, it's recommended to try changing positions.

Once the Aneros no longer feels out of place inside you, take deep breaths, and try to squeeze and release yourself, as if you were trying to stop urinating. The important thing to mention here is that you should try to do this while having your anus muscles as relaxed as possible.

At first, it will be no more than a small erogenous sensation, but if you concentrate on it without letting it get away, your body will naturally begin reacting to it.

After a while, a sharp pleasure will suddenly appear deep behind the back of the penis.

1.) The pubococcygeal muscle will contract in reaction to the weak stimulus.

2.) The Aneros will go in deep and massage the prostate.

↓
3.) In response to the almost ticklish pleasure, one will unconsciously tighten their stomach, which will send an even more intense pleasure racing down.

4.) The waves of pleasure will cause one's muscles to relax, making the Aneros fall back down a little, massaging the prostate from a different angle.

↓
Repeats from stage one.

Repeat

THE ANEROS IS MOVING ON ITS OWN, AND IT FEELS SOOOO GOOD!

Upon having your prostate massaged repeatedly due to the muscle contractions, your body will begin to get even more sexually aroused.

Because your body will now be focusing on the sexual arousal from your prostate, your penis may return to a half-erect state, or may even go completely flaccid. Cowper's fluid may also begin flowing out, along with lubrication.

At this stage, you must endure the urge to play with your penis, and instead endure the urge to play with your prostate.

Trust your body to the flows of pleasure from your prostate.

waste fluid. This was the original goal of the Aneros.

Because, unlike normal masturbation, dry orgasms have no clear goal line, such as ejaculation, it is said that some people aren't even sure if they've orgasmed or not.

That pleasure is accumulated in the body and brain, and can eventually lead to an orgasm that would surpass an ordinary ejaculation.

It's very difficult to explain with words or images, but please try to imagine the pleasure of ejaculation to be 100. Now imagine 60 to 70 on that scale being applied several times every few seconds.

With an amount of pleasure that could almost cause one to lose consciousness, but without being able to reach a clear goal like ejaculation, the body instead begins to get more and more sensitive to the orgasms.

This lack of an upper limit is one of the reasons the Aneros and dry orgasms are becoming more and more popular.

is already prepared to ejaculate after the slightest touch to the penis.

After the prostate has been thoroughly massaged by the Aneros, your sensitive body

We've explained in detail dry orgasms, but without an ejaculation, things simply wouldn't end, correct? (For sex manga, as well.)

Unlike the unknown, extreme waves of pleasure you get from dry orgasms with the Aneros, this ejaculation is a familiar pleasure...however, due to the contraction of the pubococcygeal muscle, the Aneros currently inside will then begin to push inside even deeper.

This massaging against the now sensitive prostate will produce a longer, more intense ejaculation than any you've previously experienced.

The PRL that is secreted after ejaculating now holds back the dopamine that had been increasing the sexual arousal and pleasure of the mind and body. In other words, this is the "afterglow" after you're done ejaculating.

However, you should remain in a soft state of relaxation and pleasure after using the Aneros, as your blood circulation will have gone up, and the Aneros will have encouraged various forms of rejuvenation in the body, which doesn't happen with a regular ejaculation.

LUCKILY, IT HADN'T BEEN UPLOADED ANYWHERE YET.
